Highway being paved

Workmen from Missouri Petroleum Products Co. of St. Louis continue work on Highway 114 between Sikeston and Morehouse, which will leave the road six feet wider at 24 feet and a lot smoother. According to Missouri State Highway Department officials, the project of paving and widening the 2.7-mile portion of the road, from Sikeston to Route BB is 40 per cent complete, and is expected to be finished by Aug. 1. Total cost of the project is expected to be $333,000.

U.S. asking Americans to leave Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The U.S. Embassy here "strongly urged" Americans to leave Lebanon today following the assassination of the U.S. ambassador and his economic counselor.

In Washington, President Ford ordered the Embassy to evacuate by convoy any U.S. citizens who want to leave war-torn Lebanon but said the convoy would not have U.S. military protection. Ford canceled a political trip to Iowa and met with his top national security advisers for a third straight day.

A spokesman at the Embassy in Beirut said that its advice to Americans was one notch more urgent than a warning standing since October calling on U.S. citizens to clear out unless they have pressing reasons to stay.

The embassy advised Americans who want to leave to join a convoy organized by the British Embassy departing Saturday morning for Damascus under protection from Palestinian, Libyan and Syrian troopers.

Of the 1,350 Americans and their 470 non-U.S. dependents in Lebanon, 30 had signed up for the British-sponsored trip by late Friday afternoon, he said.

A British official said 600 Britons were expected to take the convoy, leaving places for 1,100 other foreigners.

There was no visible panic among Americans in Beirut.

The spokesman listed these reasons for increasing the urgency of the advice now:

—The British-run convoy with protection from guerrillas, Syrians and Libyan officers, presented a good opportunity for Americans who want to get out.

—The closure of Beirut airport has sealed the last convenient route in and out of Lebanon, increasing a sense of being trapped among those caught in the war.

—The assassination of Ambassador Francis E. Meloy, Jr. on Wednesday.

The spokesman declined to say whether the Beirut Embassy requested authorization to make the advice more urgent or whether orders to do so came from Washington.

The distinct impression among observers here reading comments by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and other Washington officials, was that concern was higher in Washington than in Beirut.

Most Americans who wanted to get out of the war-shattered country over the last 14 months of fighting have done so. The airport was operating regularly until June 6 and, although risky, individual trips to Damascus by road were possible until last week.

"I'm not taking advice from an embassy that can't protect its own ambassador," said an American professor at the American University of Beirut who planned to stay on.

The bodies of Meloy and his aide were driven toward Damascus early today under protection of guerrillas, two Libyan officers in blue berets and Syrian soldiers as part of a British test convoy of 13 cars.

4 others injured in accidents

Woman hurt in head-on wreck

A Senath woman was seriously injured in a head-on collision and four persons received minor injuries in three single-vehicle accidents Thursday and early today, the highway patrol reported today.

The lone two-car accident occurred at 3:30 p.m. Thursday on a township road seven miles southwest of Kennett, when a car driven west by Charles Henry Parker, 34, of Kennett and a car driven east bound by Pat Wayne Edwards, 17, of Kennett, collided on a curve.

Injured seriously was a passenger in the Parker vehicle, Mavis Harris, 60, of Senath, who was taken to the Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett.

Two passengers received minor injuries at 4:15 p.m. Thursday when Jack Wyight Powell, 43, of Advance lost control of a northbound car on highway 25 when he swerved to avoid hitting two dogs and the vehicle overturned.

Powell's wife, Wanda Powell, 40, and Goldie Potter, 69, of St. Louis were taken to Dexter Memorial Hospital.

An accident at 1:50 a.m. today on Highway 60 eight miles northwest of Poplar Bluff resulted in minor injuries to the driver, Albert Leo Frye, 69, of Poplar Bluff.

The patrol reported the eastbound Frye car ran off the south side of the road, then came back onto the road and off again, then overturned.

Frye was taken to Lucy Lee Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

At 2:05 a.m. today, four miles north of Wappapello on Route Z, Larry Junior Grimes, 34, of Wappapello was driving a tractor-trailer truck loaded with watermelons north when the steering mechanism apparently malfunctioned, causing the truck to run off the left side of the road down a ravine and overturn.

Grimes received minor injuries but was not taken to a hospital.

Two persons were injured Wednesday in two separate accidents on area roads, according to the highway patrol.

A Sikeston man sustained moderate injuries at 10:15 a.m. Wednesday in a three-truck

2 elected to posts at Boys State

Travis Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Cox Sr., 1906 Kentucky Ave., has been elected state representative and Joel A. Montgomery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joel A. Mongtomery, Highway 61 North, was elected circuit judge at the 37th annual session of The American Legion Boys State of Missouri, being held this week at Central Missouri State University at Warrensburg.

Cox is sponsored by the Lions Club and attends Sikeston High School, where he is active in National Honor Society, band and choir.

Montgomery is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and is active in Student Council, tennis, Foreign Language Club, Debate Club and National Honor Society at Sikeston High School. He also participates in Church League basketball and Senior Babe Ruth League baseball.

American Legion Boys State of Missouri is a citizenship training program designed to augment and supplement existing courses of instruction in schools.

Bond signs law creating new court

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Settlement of small civil disputes without legal red tape will open up the state's court system to the people and increase public respect for law, Gov. Chrisoopher S. Bond says.

Bond, who signed into law on Thursday a bill setting up a small claims court, called the proposal "one of the most important measures" passed by the General Assembly during the recent legislative session.

The bill, signed during Bond's appearance at the meeting of the Missouri Judical Conference here, will go into effect Aug. 13.

"The much needed reforms in this measure will make our courts more accessible to the public and, in turn, will strengthen the public's respect for our laws," Bond said.

The governor also signed three other bills into law including one revamping the public defender system and authorizing the injection of another $1 million annually in state support for the financially-troubled program.

Under the small claims bill, magistrate judges will hear civil disputes involving less than $500 one day a week or more often if needed.

Persons involved in the suits can be represented by attorneys if they wish, but an attorney isn't necessary and the normal formal courtroom procedures and rules will not be used. A similar measure died a year ago because it barred persons from being represented by an attorney.

Four claims can be filed within any 12-month period for a fee of $10 each although claims involving $100 or less carry only a $5 filing fee.

The bill also revamps the magistrate court system, permitting magistrates to be appointed acting circuit judges in special non-controversial cases in an effort to ease crowded circuit court dockets.

Haywood City receives subsidy

BENTON — In a telephone conversation Thursday, the Scott County Court received word from Jerry Turner, a Department of Housing and Urban Development official at St. Louis, that Haywood City had been granted a $9,000 per year housing subsidy.

The subsidy is for a three - year period under the Section 8 Existing Housing Program.

Under the program, HUD will provide housing assistance payments on behalf of eligible lower- income families whose income does not exceed 80 per cent of the median income for the locality. This payment will make up the difference between the approved rent for the unit and the amount the family is required to pay, which is not less than 15 per cent nor more than 25 per cent of the family's adjusted income.

The rental rates set by HUD are: one- bedroom unit, $121; two- bedroom unit, $142; and three- bedroom unit, $157.

Private owners may participate in the Section 8 program by leasing existing decent, safe and sanitary housing to lower-income families. Under this program, a family which is determined eligible by the Public Housing Authority will be given a certificate of family participation.

The family may then seek a suitable living unit. If the owner is willing to lease a unit, and the unit is determined to be in decent, safe and sanitary condition, and if the gross rent is within the HUD- established fair market rent for the existing housing, a lease may be executed between the owner and the family, and a housing assistance payments contract will be executed between the Public Housing Authority and the owner.

The contract will assure a monthly payment to the owner in an amount sufficient to make up the difference between the rent payable by the family and the contract rent to the owner.

Louie Hirschowitz of Oran, presiding judge of the County Court, said the Sikeston Housing Authority would handle the paper work for the Haywood City housing units.

David Mann of Sikeston, secretary- treasurer for the St. Johns Bayou Levy District, told the County Court that the Corps of Engineers wants to do more drainage work with federal funding.

He said there would be a Senate subcommittee hearing in Washington on June 23, which he will attend as attorney for the St.

Marijuana plants went up in smoke

BLOOMFIELD — About 300 "good, healthy" marijuana plants went up in smoke Thursday morning after the Stoddard County Sheriff's Department were told of their existence and their location.

The plants were apparently being cultivated in the Avert community near the Castor River.

No charges have been filed but the investigation is continuing.

The plants were all in a single plot and about three feet tall. The sheriff's department pulled up all the plants and burned them just before noon Thursday.

The plants were not noticeable from the road.

Hays quits house post; may not seek reelection

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wayne Hays, whose relationship with Elizabeth Ray touched off the Capitol Hill payroll sex scandal, said today he is stepping down as chairman of the House Administration Committee.

"The charges which have been made against me and the current state of my health make it impossible for me to devote time necessary to carry out my responsibilities as chairman of the House Administration Committee," Hays said in a letter to the Democratic leadership.

The three-paragraph letter was released by Hays' office shortly after House Speaker Carl Albert announced that Hays had told him he is relinquishing the powerful committee post.

But Hays, who is recovering in a Barnsville, Ohio, hospital from an overdose of sleeping pills, indicated he might try to regain the post later.

"I am confident that I will be vindicated as to any wrongdoing and when that occurs, I shall ask for a re-examination of my position by the (House Democratic) caucus," the letter concluded.

Sources close to the Democratic leadership said Thursday night that Hays will soon announce plans not to run for reelection in November. Hays previously stepped down as chairman of the House Democratic campaign committee which channels campaign funds to candidates.

Auto stolen at El Capri

An automobile was reported stolen from the parking lot at El Capri Motel, 531 N. Main St., between 10:30 p.m. Thursday and 1:30 a.m. today.

The 1973 car, valued at $2,500, belongs to Richard Herman Bonney of Fredericktown.

2 sought in shotgun shooting

CARUTHERSVILLE — Two Caruthersville men are being sought following a shotgun shooting in which two Hayti men were wounded at 1:33 this morning at the Bel-Air Cafe.

Authorities are looking for Benny Johnson, alias James Johnson, and Larry Wilson, alias "Tuck" Johnson, in connection with the shooting this morning of Jackie Sullivan, 24, and Willie Williams, 22, of Hayti.

The shooting followed an argument between the four men, reportedly over a woman.

Sullivan was shot in the upper left arm and Williams was shot in the upper left chest. Both were taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti and later transferred to a St. Louis hospital, where they are listed in fair condition, a spokesman for the Pemiscot County Sheriff's Department said.

Burlison, Taylor records sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has been asked to turn over to the Justice Department financial records of nine members accused of receiving federal travel funds to which they were not entitled, an informed source said Thcrsday night.

The department is seeking the records to look into the possibility of suing the legislators under a federal law permitting the recovery of double the amount of money paid out by the government in false claims, the source said.

The law also permits the government to get civil penalties of $2,000 for each false payment.

The fraud section of the Justice Department's civil division sent a formal request for the records to the House Administration Committee, headed by Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, who is himself being investigated for allegedly putting Elizabeth Ray in a $14,000-a-year House job in exchange for sexual favors.

As of Thursday, the source said, no response to the request had been received.

Asked what the department might do if the request were turned down, the source said, "I don't know what the next stop would be."

Although the source did not recall the names of the nine legislators, the Washington Post said in its Friday edition that they were Reps. Ray Madden, D-Ind., chairman of the House Rules Committee; Margaret Heckler, R-Mass.; Tim Lee Carter, R-Ky.; Walter Flowers, D-Ala.; Otto Passman, D-La.; Bill D. Burlison D-Mo.; George Shipley, D-Ill.; Robert Jones, D-Ala.; and Gene Taylor, R-Mo.

There have been news reports that the nine have received payments for automobile trips when they actually traveled by airplane. Automobile mileage paid by the House for long trips exceeds the air fares to the same destinations.

At least five of the representatives said they subsequenly paid back to the government the sums under dispute, the Post reported. It quoted them as listing the following repayments: Heckler, $1,919.04; Carter, $1,378; Passman, $1,521; Flowers, "in excess of $600"; and Jones, $801.22.

It said Madden, Burlison and Taylor could not be reached for comment. Shipley and the other five said the disputed payments resulted from clerical errors or misunderstandings stemming from a change last year in the method of computing trip reimbursements.

The Justice Department also is weighing the possibility of suing Hays and Miss Ray under the false-claims statute to recover the funds paid Miss Ray. And two weeks ago, the department took charge of a false-claims suit against Rep. William L. Clay, D-Mo., also charged with collecting reimbursement for auto travel he didn't make.

The Clay suit originally was instituted by a Buffalo, N.Y., law student, Alan R. Hollander.

A Washington attorney, W. Edward Thompson, filed suit Wednesday against Hays and Miss Ray under the same statute. The law requires the Justice Department to decide within 60 days of notification whether it will intervene and take control of such suits.

ELDRIDGE CLEAVER ON AMERICA

Eldridge Cleaver. The name evokes disturbing memories of racial violence during the last decade, firey rhetoric, and shootouts with police. Cleaver was head of the Black Panthers before fleeing the U.S. in 1968, the police in pursuit.

But Cleaver is now back in the U.S. after a swallow of life abroad, and the tune he's singing today is a far different tune. He returned to face jail last year rather than live under political asylum abroad any longer; and insists he doesn't regret the decision despite his current incarceration for charges stemming from a shootout with the Oakland police in 1968.

In an interview carried recently in the Washington Star newspaper, Cleaver expressed these thoughts:

"I'm not sorry I came back, because at least my children are back here, and my wife is back, and I am back, even though I am not free. (The interview was by telephone from an Oakland jail.) I am back in America, in the English langauge. I wouldn't have it any other way. Even if I die in jail, I feel that I did the right thing in coming back."

The writer who interviewed Cleaver, Don Branning, writes: "Cleaver returned saying that for all its faults, the United States was the best, most flexible and hopeful system in the world. He criticizes 'petty, vicious dictators' in the African nations, Arab racism toward blacks below the Saraha, and repression he saw in the Communist countries he once idealized."

Cleaver is quoted by Branning as saying of his generation that "You criticize the system to hell," but that "at a certain point, you are obligated to come up with some answers. Not just to continue criticism to the end of your day. I'm 40 years old now. I think that we have an obligation to come up with some solutions. To come up with some alternatives, some programs."

Thank you, Eldridge Cleaver, for that Bicentennial gift. Just one thought: Is there some way that Jeremy Rifkin and his fellow radicals of the 1970's could now be persuaded to take an extended trip aborad to learn, as Cleaver has learned so belatedly, the blessings of being an American?

AH, POOR OZONE

Ah, the poor ozone layer. First it was manmade fluorocarbons which were breaking down the protective shield in the upper atmosphere that blocks harmful radiation from the sun. (Or which aren't breaking it down, depending upon what scientific report you've read most recently.)

Now another threat to the ozone has been discerned in the form of carbon tetrachloride, the familiar dry-cleaning compound, which is also used in fire extinguishers and for many other purposes. Like the fluorocarbons, carbon tetrachloride can trigger a chemical chain reaction which breaks apart ozone molecules.

According to Dr. Aubrey P. Altshuller of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, increasing amounts of carbon tetrachloride have been measured in the atmosphere, but the mystery is that there has not been enough of the chemical produced and used worldwide to account for it all. Thus, he believes, there must be a large natural source — still unknown — of carbon tetrachloride.

"It appears urgent," says the chemist, that we find out where this extra carbon tetrachloride is coming from.

Pardon us, but we think we'll pass on this crisis. Our sense of urgency is showing signs of depletion worse than that of the much-abused ozone layer.

"There certainly aren't skeletons in your closet!"

NOTHING IS EXEMPT

The nation's official inflation watchers report each month that the Consumer Price Index has jumped up another percentage point or so. Rates for electric service are also on the way up. Any question concerning the need for electric rate increases should be dissipated by figures describing the actual experience of a major utility company operating a large electric generating and transmission system in the eastern part of the United States.

In the company's operating area in 1946, a 16-ounce loaf of bread sold for 11 cents; in 1974, the same loaf of bread was 37 cents. Comparative statistics for other elements in the average family's cost of living were given as follows: one quart of milk 17 cents to 41 cents; one gallon of gasoline 22 cents to 55 cents and a standard development home $7,900 to $36,000. The mortgage interest rate rose from 4.5 percent to 9 percent and the typical annual mortgage payment (60 percent mortgage) went from $316 to $2,175. Such figures tell what inflation has done to the dollar's value when it comes to paying for some of the things we cannot do without. By contrast, in 1946 this utility company sold electricity to its residential customers for an average kilowatt-hour price of 3.55 cents. In 1966, the price had dropped to 2.42 cents per kilowatt-hour and even today, after soaring costs have necessitated rate increases, the company's charge per kilowatt-hour for the average residential customer is still only 3.40 cents per kwh or 96 percent of the 1946 cost. This is not bad in view of the fact that the major operating overhead of an electric company is made up of the costs of construction, equipment, fuel and the amount of interest or dividends that must be paid to attract investment capital required for the construction of new plants and facilities. These major elements of utility overhead have risen in price at a faster clip than just about anything else in the economy, increasing by anywhere from 1150 to 300 or 400 percent in the past five or six years alone.

If there is to be enough electricity to keep the U.S. moving, electric rates must continue to go up. Power consumers and regulatory commissions must recognize the necessity of rate increases promptly given and of sufficient size to meet increased operating costs and pay returns adequate to attract investment capital. Electricity may be a necessity of rate increases promptly given and of sufficient size to meet increased operating costs and pay returns adequate to attract investment capital. Electricity may be a necessity of modern life, but it can never be free or unaffected by inflation any more than the roof over our heads, the food we eat or, for that matter, the clean air we breathe.

A TOOTHSOME HOLD ON THE PRICE LINE

The nation's bill for health care last year topped out at $118.5 billion, up 13.9 per cent over 1974's $104 billion. This $14.5-billion growth was the largest dollar increase in history.

Interestingly—and maybe significantly—expenditures on dental care continued a long-term decline as a percentage of health care costs. According to the Social Security Administration, dental care in 1975 accounted for $7.5 billion, or 6.3 per cent, of the health care total. This compares to 6.5 per cent in 1974, 9.1 per cent in 1971 and 10.1 per cent in 1950.

Why is the dental care tail getting smaller while the total health care dog is getting bigger? The answer may be found in looking at the level of public funding of health care, suggests Dr. Robert B. Shirea, president of the American Dental Association (ADA).

Currently, he points out, governmental bodies pay about 40 per cent of the nation's total health care costs. Dentistry, however, is financed almost exclusively through the private sector, with only 5.5 per cent of the total national dental bill coming from government funds.

At the same time, dentistry has managed to hold the price line. According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, dental fees have increased slightly less than average prices in the economy during the past seven years.

One reason for this is technology and increased productivity. The high-speed drill, for example, developed by the ADA and offered gratis to all dentists, has been comparable to adding the equivalent of 1,174 dentists, says University of Michigan economist Paul Feldstein.

But the primary reason, says Shira, is the system itself. "The private (dental) preactitioner has none of the time-consuming administrative stricutres of a clinic, which is generally laden with paperwork and red tape."

The dental profession supports national health insurance programs if they can be devised to maximize the impact of federal funds on the nation's dental health, he says. Priorities should be given to care for children and emergency care for all, and public funds should be restricted to those who cannot afford to pay for health care themselves.

But above all, national health care programs should take full advantage of the economics and patient conveniences provided by the nation's existing private dental system which, claims Shira, has given the United States "unquestionably the best dental care and health level in the world."

LEONOR SULLIVAN
By PHYLLIS SCHLAFLY
Copley News Service

Among the congressmen who will be retiring at the end of this year is one of the most conscientious and capable ever to serve: Leonor K. Sullivan, now completing her 24th year representing the people of St. Louis. She has built her record in Congress and big majorities among the voters by diligent devotion to her constituency and by capable craftsmanship in the art of legislation.

Mrs. Sullivan, a Democrat, has been duly recognized by her peers in a highly competitive Congress.

She served for 14 years as chairman of the House subcommittee on the Panama Canal and is now chairman of the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee–only the third woman in the history of the House to serve as chairman of a major legislative committee.

She has been an articulate opponent of what she has aptly called the "sustained campaign by the State Department since 1964 to erode U.S. sovereign rights, power and authority" over the U.S. Canal in Panama. She has warned that continued U.S. ownership and control are essential not only to the fate of the canal itself, but also to the entire Caribbean area which, in her words, "is already well on its way to becoming a Red lake."

The test of an effective legislator is how much he gets accomplished in spite of our cumbersome committee and congressional processes.

Mrs. Sullivan successfully pioneered in consumer legislation long before it became fashionable.

She introduced and guided to passage the 1968 Consumer Credit Protection Act known as the Truth-in-Lending Act.

She introduced and helped to pass the 1970 Fair Credit Reporting Act to enable consumers to protect themselves against arbitrary and erroneous information.

She was instrumental in the passage of the 1958 Food Additives Act, which requires pretesting of chemical additives in foods, the 1960 Color Additives Act and the 1961 Hazardous Substances Labeling Act.

As the ranking member of the Banking and Currency Committee, Mrs. Sullivan deserves much of the credit for raising federal insurance coverage on bank and savings and loan deposits from $10,000 to $15,000 and then to $40,000.

It is too bad that Congress failed to take Mrs. Sullivan's good advice about housing legislation, another of her longtime interests. She has opposed high-rise public housing for families with children, stressing the superiority of garden-type buildings and the need for regulations to require public housing tenants to be responsible for the maintenance of their units.

Leonor Sullivan is a strong advocate of women's rights, and, therefore, worked actively for the provisions against sex discrimination in the Equal Pay Act of 1963, the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and increased Social Security benefits for women.

When Leonor Sullivan retires from Congress at the end of this year, it will probably be a long time before her unique place in our government can be filled.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Energy Among Friends
with LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON— In the grand Washington manner, the development of energy for the future is being shaped largely by friendship and favoritism. The juiciest contracts are going to a corporation with the right friend in the right place.

Seldom have the stakes been higher. The research contracts will probably determine what forms of energy the nation will use to run its factories and heat its homes.A small contract, therefore, could lead to a big development worth untold billions.

The national effort to make the United Staes independent of overseas oil began three years ago. But while Project Independence blueprints gather dust and energy czars come and go, two former pentagon pals have been quietly charting the nation's energy development.

Dr. Robert Seamans, head of the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA), and John Foster, a vice president of TRW, Inc., have been close friends since they served together on an Air Force advisory board in the late 1950s.

Now they have teamed up to plan ERDA's energy research program. If the alliance hasn't always worked to the advantage of the taxpayers,it has worked to the advantage of Foster's firm.

TRW has picked up nearly $24 million in noncompetitive contracts from ERDA. Two of the contracts weren't even solicited but were thrust upon the company, a procedure that is unusual if not unknown in the history of dispensing federal funds.

The contracting system at ERDA works in a unique way. Sources say it sometimes consists of Seamans and Foster chewing the fat and coming up with a project they like. Seamans gives the order, and TRW gets the work.

Foster has heavily involved, for example, in setting up ERDA's most important contract: a study to determine which energy technologies the agency should concentrate upon developing. The profit-motivted TRW and a nonprofit group called Mitre were selected to produce the answers.

TRW has a financial stake in the electrical industry, which is eager to develop nuclear power as the energy of the future. This can be distributed, of course, in the form of electricity over the industry's existing lines.

Not surprisingly, the study that came out of TRW and Mitre put the biggest emphasis on nuclear energy and fossil fuels, while solar and other more experimental technologies were downplayed.

TRW was not content, meanwhile, just to win the ERDA contracts. On at least one occasion, the firm was paid by ERDA to conduct a study, which recommended the construction of an experimental ocean electric plant in Hawaii or Puerto Rico. TRW, it turns out, was part of a consortium then developing an energy research park in Hawaii on the precise site the company had recommended.

In a talk with our associate Jack Cloherty, Seamans acknowledged that he and Foster have had a long relationship but denied any impropriety in awarding ERDA contracts to his old friend's firm. He pointed out that TRW is a respected and capable company.

Seamans also admitted that he and Foster have talked often about ERDA's planning and contracting. But he denied that the two of them just cook up plans and write up contracts.

"It has never been that-simplistic," he said. "I talk to him and to a very large number of other people."

Footnote: Foster did not return our calls.

CARTER'S CHOICE: The triumphant Democratic presidential candidate, Jimmy Carter, is playing his political cares close to his chest. But the word has leaked out from his inner circle that he's looking for a running mate who has Washington experience and liberal credentials.

Our contacts inside the Carter camp were impressed with Sen. Frank Church, D.-Idaho, who made a strong showing in the West where Carter was weak. Church's campaign style – his youthful good looks and-wholesome appeal, with his family at his side-- reportedly made a favorable impact on the people around Carter.

Rep. Mo Udall, D.-Ariz., on the other hand, wound up ruffling them before the campaign was over. Yet they recognize that his Lincolnesque looks and Will Rogers humor made him a formidable campaigner. It might also take Udall on the ticket to prevent many disenchanted librals from deserting the Democratic Party in November.

Others in the Carter fold are eager to sound out Sen. Edward Kennedy, D.-Mass., about taking second place on the Democratic ticket. In addition to his liberal appeal, he also has a big following among Catholics, Jews and blue-collar workers.

Although he has said he's not interested in the job, a stint as Vice President would give him a chance to put Chappaquiddick behind him and prove himself to the nation.

But other Carter aides feel, in view of the Washington sex scandals, that this is the wrong year to bring up Chappaquiddick as an issue.

Another name heard inside the Carter camp is that of Sen. John Glenn, D.-Ohio, who has an All-American quality that appeals to the Carter people. Surprisingly, they don't seem too interested in Cailfornia's Gov. Jerry Brown, who made such a spectacular showing in the last days of the campaign.

But it will be Carter who makes the final selection, not his aides. And none of them profess to know .hatle i' thinking; even those to whom he is accessible, often find him inaccessible.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Challenges Unions:
Simon sets July 1 Deadline, Warns NYC Labor -- no restraint, no cash -- only Bankruptcy

NEW YORK – With the table stakes at well over a billion dollars – not to mention the financial life of the nation's biggest city – Secretary of the Treasury William Simon has just told it like it is to the country's most powerful, pace-setting, tradition-making municipal labor chiefs. Simon, who once told a high presidential aide and confidant to "keep his cotton-pickin' hands" off some policy, has just told the Big Apple's union leaders that neither he nor his Tressury Department "will come down to the line and play chicken-head."

He's warned them the big town just won't get the $1.1 billion loan it needs to exist unless there's a positive freeze on all wages and fringes by July 1. Period. That's it. No ifs, no buts, no money. And that means bankruptcy for Gotham.

When reminded of the unionis' pledges of productivity to make up for net pay-fringe increases, Simon retorted he didn't believe their followers would work harder and that such pledges were "bull- - - -."

He said he wasn't about to get into a fight with a "skunk" -- a rather mild rebuttal to the proletarian cultural charges by Victor Gotbaum, Municipal Labor Committee chief who also heads the nation's biggest civil service union coalition. Gotbaum refers to critics as "finks" or "basket cases" or unblinkingly goes scatological like sluggers in ancient freighters' fo'c's'les.

So, with Chicago, Philadelphia and other big cities running into heavy deficits, all eyes are on the New York deadline -- July 1. That day, to keep New York operative, Simon must begin pouring in $1.1 billion as the federal loan quota for the month. But, Simon says, "We made an agreement which hinges on the pledge of a wage-fringe freeze." No freeze, no money.

In effect that's what Deputy Secretary of the Treasury Robert Gerard, speaking for Simon, told little David, otherwise known as Mayor Abe Beame, in an unreported telephone conversation last Tuesday afternoon, June 8.

For all cities seeking succor from the federal Treasury, this call was historic. Gerard said,in effect, there must be no doubt that the scores of municipal labor contracts expiring June 30 won't contain wage-fringe increases. Therefore this must all be locked up by July 1, avers Simon. He says neither he nor the Treasury are going to get "dragged" into July while the histrionic and oft-hysterical negotiations are underway with unions of municipal workers threatening to shut off the police, the firefighting, the sewage treatment plants, the hospitals, sanitation – you name it. Simon says he's not about to hand over the $1.1 billion and then be told -- sorry, but we had to sign the more costly contracts.

Simon reckons Gotbaum correctly. The labor chief now heading for the national American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes (AFL-CIO) convention in Miami Beach's Fontainebleu Hotel has promised his "followship" he'd deliver a healthy new contract. Simon asks who is going to pay for it?

Already, New York City's deficit runs $1.1 billion annually. That must be cut from the budget in less than three years. This means heavy layoffs. There is seniority. Thus it's last-hired, first-fired. This means slashing black, Puerto Rican and female workers. So the bantam mayor is on the anvil.

Gotbaum's new demands spur cheers from his 108,000 members. For example, a big bloc of them is asking for about 25 per cent more in wages over two years. On a 35-hour week. And overtime after 35 hours. Time and a half in cash. Triple time now for holiday work (and there are lots of holidays in this town), double time in cash and day-for-day compensatory time off. And a 10 per cent higher differential for any work done between 4 p.m. and 8 a.m. And a citywide holiday on Jan. 15 to honor Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Unused annual leave should be carried over for three years at the employe's option. Four years' child care leave without loss in seniority for any male or female entrusted with the raising of a baby or youngster. There are more. But you get the general idea.

All this atop one of the most costly and comprehensive municipal employes health insurance coverage plans in America. It costs the city an average of $1,049.39 per employe per year to provide this health service compared with Boston's 50-50 contributed $403.92; San Francisco's $414 (city pays all); New York State's $581.85; the federal government's $613.32 and the private sector's $375.

This plus special benefits such as free eyeglasses, 75-cent prescriptions, free dental care and free life insurance now costs $291.4 million a year compared with $8.4 million in 1961.

Included in the health insurance program are the spouse, dependents, retirees and even part-time and seasonal workers.

Thus the Big Apple's municipal labor movement has challenged Simon. Obviously the union chiefs don't intend to cut bait. They'll fish.

It's a national drama. The other day Simon received a letter from 52 Congressmen demanding he cut the federal loans to New York. A congressional committee staff is preparing to investigate Babylon. The labor chiefs have threatened a general strike here as in 1968 in support of a garbage workers stoppage. The then governor Nelson Rockefeller rushed to the support of the sanitation men. Again there's talk of a citywide walkout. If New York is paralyzed for any length of time, the whole nation will limp. We'll soon see. It will be a warm Fourth with lots of fireworks.

Female captain flying high

DENVER (AP) — When Emily Howell was young she wanted to be a stewardess. It turned out she was an inch too tall.

Now, while others are serving coffee, she's at the controls of an airliner — the first woman to hold the rank of captain with a commercial airline in the United States.

The 36-year-old Denver native flies for Frontier Airlines. She was elevated from first officer to captain June 1, but the road to the top wasn't an easy one — it took 15 years.

Mrs. Howell, a divorcee with a 12-year-old son, isn't the only captain in the family. Her twin sister is Capt. Eileen Hanrahan, an Air Force nurse.

After her first commercial flight 17 years ago, Mrs. Howell said she "fell in love with flying" and immediately signed up for lessons.

From there she worked to get her flight instructor rating in 1961. She worked her way up to become manager of a flight school here until 1973, chalking up 7,000 hous in the air.

Then Frontier became the first domestic airline to hire a woman to work in the cockpit.

She got a lot of publicity when she was hired, but she admits that while a job with an airline is glamorous, "it's a job."

For three years she learned the ropes at Frontier, flying as a first officer on Convair 580s and Boeing jets.

Now she has her own route. She enjoys it and probably will be on it for awhile. It's not glamorous — from Denver to Cheyenne, Wyo., back to Denver, then off to Nebraska with stops in Sidney, Scottsbluff, Alliance and Chadron. After an overnight in Chadron, she retraces the route in her deHavilland "Otter," a twin-eigine prop-jet that seats 19 passengers. There is no stewardess.

In her first flight as a captain, Mrs. Howell said she "a little nervous" and "felt sort of like I was soloing again for the first time."

Joy of Stitching

by ELSA WILLIAMS

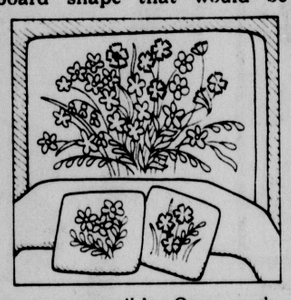

SWEET DREAMS

Sooner or later every needle artist gets an irresistible urge to make "something special" for her home. Something she will enjoy for years to come and possibly something that will be handed down in her family for her grandchildren and theirs to treasure and admire.

What could be a more delightful choice than a headboard — something charming to look at last thing at night, and first thing in the morning.

I've embroidered headboards for both my East coast home in Massachusetts and my California home in Pebble beach. In the former, the headboard was worked in crewel; in the latter it is stitched on needlepoint canvas. The design of Jacobean flowers is multicolored against a soft blue background.

Though embroidering a headboard is not a small undertaking, it's well worth the time and effort. First consider carefully the kind of design you would find it pleasant to live with, then decide on the headboard shape that would be most compatible. Once you've decided, have a piece of plywood cut to size and shape.

Pad this with several layers of soft fabric until it develops a gently rounded contour. Then lay it flat on the floor and smooth your embroidery linen or canvas over it. Next trace the outline accurately. If you're using canvas, leave a generous margin all around the embroidery space because your stitches will tend to "take up" the canvas.

Jacobean designs, like that on my own headboard, are particularly lovely with traditional furniture. Realistic flowers in true-to-nature colors make it springtime in your bedroom all year round.

Crewel embroidery on linen takes less time than needlepoint and you may want to echo the graceful curves of stems, leaves and tendrils and the colors of the embroidered flowers in similarly padded valances to complete the room's decor.

For a headboard in a man's bedroom Bargello or abstract swirls of color might be a more suitable choice.

Elsa Williams will reply to readers' questions of general interest in her column but all questions will be answered personally. Write to Elsa Williams, Box 3788, Grand Central Station, New York 10017.

Installing a custom-made headboard is very easy. The panel is put against the wall and a mattress and box spring on a rolling frame is placed in front of it.

Dear Elsa,

I recently came across a charming book of Cross stitch patterns. Is it possible to use these for embroidery on canvas? Would I have to embroider Cross stitches on the canvas or could I use other stitches? And how can I get these borders to "turn" a corner?

T.H.J.

Dear T.H.J.,

You can use almost any charted design to embroider on canvas; certainly it sounds as though your Cross stitch pattern would be equally effective used this way. You can use any of the usual canvas stitches. . .Tent, Basketweave, Bargello, etc. To turn a corner. I suggest you chart a length of your border pattern and cut an equilateral, right-angle triangle out of it. If you close the gap by swinging the right hand piece over to join the left hand piece, you'll find you've created a right angle and can stitch away to make a picture frame.

Decorating Tips

NATURALLY

"Naturally" is both an old word and a new one—especially when it comes to decorating the home. Decorating naturally—using natural materials to create a pleasant home atmosphere—is part of today's nation-wide trend toward things au naturel, part of the "getting back to nature" or "getting back to basics" attitude that is sweeping the country. And if the marketplace is any indication, a trend toward the use of genuine hardwood in furniture is a sure sign of the times.

Genuine oak alone accounts for 22% of the new furniture collections showing up in stores right now. New styles in Country French and Country English are showing up in oak for both genuine country folk as well as city dwellers, reflecting today's trend toward more casual living everywhere. Casual family room furniture in oak is very popular too, because of oak's rustic, rugged appearance and performance.

Newly favored among homemakers is ash, another strong hardwood with bold grain markings. One manufacturer has used ash with a "driftwood finish," in a suite of furniture that has a "Spirit of '76" quality. Timed for the Bicentennial, it has a huge four-poster bed with an overhead tester, and a table that smacks of workbench styling.

Bicentennial influence is also calling for reproductions of 18th Century designs made today of the same hardwoods that were used in the originals. Walnut, cherry and mahogany were used in formal 18th Century furniture and are used again today in the reproductions of handsome highboys, graceful sideboards, and chairs in Queen Anne or Chippendale styling. In more casual Early American design, look for maple and oak for the authentic natural touch.

In Mediterranean styling, the trend toward more subtle lines has virtually eliminated the use of "oak-like" and "maple-like" plastic imitations. Where once this style was embellished with plastic curlicues, elaborate sunbursts and intricate pseudo carvings of all description, today's Mediterranean styling sports rope turnings of genuine hardwood, real carvings of a lighter and cleaner character, and an allover uncluttered look.

To have a really today home, eliminate the plasticized look that is so out of vogue, and look to the natural materials like genuine hardwood.

Husband has death wish

Dear Ann: Will you please do a great many wives of heart-attack victims a favor and find some answers for us?

My husband, Ted, and several of his friends were lucky enough to survive severe heart attacks. Ted and two of his pals are now off their diets and even worse, they've started to smoke again. The other wives are ignoring it, but I feel as if Ted had slapped me in the face.

Isn't he saying to me, "I don't give a damn what I do to you?" Could it be that he has a death wish? This man needs every ounce of oxygen he can get, and there he is wasting it on smoking. What should I do? Every time I see Ted smoke a cigaret something inside me dies. The love and respect I had for him for over 30 years is slipping away.

What can I do about it? -- Heartsick Wife

Dear Heartsick: Not a darn thing. So quit eating yourself up, or he'll bury YOU.

People who defy doctors' orders do indeed have a death wish. A person must want to live in order to give up smoking or drinking or eating things he shouldn't. To wives who are in your shoes, I say quit nagging You can't inject a person with the will to live if he doesn't have it. Just keep yourself in good shape and make sure his life insurance is paid up.

Dear Ann Landers: In a recent column you said you had never received a letter from a girl who was sorry she had saved herself for marriage. Well-- you're hearing from one now, although I'm no "girl." I'm 52 years old.

I "saved" myself for a young man who had many fine qualities, but he was a clod in bed -- practically raped me on our wedding night. I tried to explain tenderness and patience were essential to help a woman achieve satisfaction, but I could never get the idea across to him. He was interested only in himself.

After putting up with his animalistic behavior for four years, I found a letter he had written to a girl he was seeing on the side. He described me as "cold, unresponsive and a zero bed-partner." That was all I needed to call it quits.

A few years later I met the man I wanted to spend the rest of my life with. But first I welcomed an affair. We married shortly after and have had 18 wonderful years together. There's something to be said for trying on a pair of shoes before you make the final investment, Ann. - A Case For The Other Side

Dear Case: People aren't shoes, although your first mate sounds like a bit of a heel.

I am less judgmental than I was 20 years ago about girls who don't make it to the marriage bed "intact." However I still say it's the best way to go. I also believe that had you tried it out before your first marriage, you'd have married the clod anyway, thoroughly convinced that love would conquer all. It happens all the time, dear.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 15-year-old girl who is worried about my best friend. She used to be just neat but lately she's been telling a lot of crazy lies. Like she says she gets phone calls from famous people. Yesterday she said the earrings she was wearing awere a gift from Richard Burton. What's with her anyway? -- E.L. In L.A.

Dear E.L.: Your friend needs to make up things to make her feel important. This is very sad You can help by being kind and building her ego. This girl desperately needs emotional support.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines.

2 churches to host film

Pete, Marge and Ronnie Harper, played by Robert Sampson, Pippa Scott and Johnny Jensen, relax during a scene from the full-length motion picture, "For Pete's Sake!" produced in Eastmancolor on location in Denver and the Colorado Rockies by World Wide Pictures, the comedy-drama is scheduled to be shown at 6 p.m. Sunday in two area churches--First Church of the Nazarene, Highway 61 North, and the Gray Ridge General Baptist Church. Seen nationwide by over three million people in theater premieres, "For Pete's Sake!" is a family film in which families can see and feel through its story line ways to develop deeper understanding and build stronger ties.

First Methodist has staff change

The Rev. Ralph H. Dodson

The Rev. Ralph H. Dodson has resigned as associate pastor of First United Methodist Church, Highway 61 North, and the Rev. Brent Mustoe of Edina, who will enter Asbury Theological Seminary at Wilmore, Ky., this fall, has been named assistant minister for the summer months.

In announcing his resignation as associate pastor--a position he had held since Jan. 1--the Rev. Mr. Dodson made no statement as to his reason for resigning.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Dodson will continue to live at 404 Virginia St. Although he will not be involved in a full-time position, the Rev. Mr. Dodson will supply the pulpit in area churches without a pastor or when the pastor is ill or on vacation. He will also be available for evangelistic crusades, a work to which he gave full time for several years, traveling into nearly half the states and five foreign countries.

This Sunday at 9 a.m., he will supply the pulpit at the Marston United Methodist Church.

A May 31 graduate of Asbury College in Wilmore, the Rev. Mr. Mustoe will assist the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Arthur C. Fulbright, and work with the youth program under the direction of the educational assistant, Carolyn Walker, during the summer months.

Other duties he will assume at First Methodist include: delivering Sunday evening sermons, directing rest home services and assisting the pastor in all of his duties.

Before feeling a call to enter the ministry in November 1973, he had entered Northeast Missouri State University as an accounting major in the fall of 1972. He transferred to Asbury College in the fall of 1974 to study for the ministry, and received a bachelor of arts degree last month.

The Rev. Mr. Mustoe has previously served as assistant pastor of Faith United Methodist Church at Kirksville (April-August 1974) and pastored three small churches last summer in northeast Missouri, the area of the state in which he grew up. He also has led singing in several churches and was a member of the Men's Glee Club at Asbury College.

Couple attends seminar

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Howard, 704 Aspen Trace, recently attended a laymen's seminar on the campus of Oral Roberts University in Tulsa, Okla. Nearly 2,000 persons from across the United States and Canada were guests of the university for the four-day event.

Featured speaker for the seminar was ORU founder and president, Oral Roberts. Richard and Patti Roberts, the World Action Singers and Reflection, regulars on the Oral Roberts half-hour weekly programs and one-hour prime-time quarterly television specials, performed for seminar guests.

The seminar was one of several held on the campus this year. In addition to seminar guests, some 175,000 persons tour the ORU campus each year. ORU is Oklahoma's No. 1 tourist attraction, according to the Tulsa Chamber of Commerce.

In addition to the 19 major campus buildings, the guests had an opportunity to visit University Village, a complete retirement center for 400 residents, established by the Oral Roberts Association and located adjacent to the campus.

Oral Roberts University, in its 11th year of operation, has an enrollment of some 3,500 students. ORU is well-known for its innovations in electronic teaching methods. It was the first institution of higher learning to install a complete audiovisual information-retrieval system.

Sanctuary to be built

Pastor Raymond Myrick, left, and contractor Eldon Ziegenhorn manned the shovels Tuesday as ground was broken for a new sanctuary at Temple of Faith General Baptist Church, 309 Smith St. Also on hand for the groundbreaking are Bob Lane, second from left, a deacon, and Calvin Stovall, a trustee in the church. The new structure will be a 30 by 60-foot concrete block building adjoining the old building, which will be used as an educational building. Work at the construction site started Monday and is expected to be completed about Oct. 1.

"Let all your anxieties fall upon him, for his great interest is in you." (I Peter 5:7, MOFFATT)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, we thank Thee that Thou has accepted us into the heavenly fold through Jesus Christ our Savior. His interest in us led Him to suffer on Calvary, and we thank Thee for His abiding love and Care. In His blessed name, we pray. Amen.

News analysts mystified by Carter religious convictions

NEW YORK (AP) — A lot of news analysts "are mystified" by Jimmy Carter's religious convictions, he says. "I don't think they doubt my sincerity, but they just don't understand. I don't make a big issue out of it, but neither do I hesitate to say publicly that the most important thing in my life is Jesus Christ."

That outspoken candor about it, a characteristic of the evangelical element in American Christianity, has seemed odd to some more reserved church adherents as well as to secular commentators, but it strikes a familiar chord in broad reaches of U.S. religious life.

"There is a hidden religious power base in American culture which our secular biases prevent many of us from noticing," writes Roman Catholic philosopher Michael Novak of Bayville, N.Y. "Jimmy Carter has found it."

That extensive base is the doctrinally traditional, evangelical sector of the country's churches, and it's a big one, estimated at from 30 million to 40 million of the nation's 132 million church members, about half the 80 million Protestants, a major segment of all mainline denominations, and a dominant part of some of them.

Although the open religious style may seem strange to some Northeasterners, it's a common quality in the country's heartland churches, in the Far West, and particularly in the South, bastion of the nation's biggest Protestant body, the 12 million Southern Baptists, including Carter, who is regarded as the front-runner for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Jim Newton of Memphis, Tenn., editor of World Mission Journal, published by the Southern Baptist Brotherhood Commission, of which Carter is a trustee, recently did a taped interview on a campaign plane trip with him about his religious attitudes.

Asked how he handled questions about being a "born-again" Christian, he said, "It's very difficult for anyone who has not had that experience to understand.... Many of the newsmen who asked about this have never had this experience. Some of them are downright cynical about it. I think it worries some of them.

"I just explain my own spiritual experience openly and honestly. When I was first asked this question, I had to decide how I was going to respond with the same kind of openness and honesty to this question that I would to any question."

Consequently, he adds, he explains that although he had been a church member since childhood, about 10 years ago, in 1967, he sensed some void in his spiritual life, that he was "missing something important," and began praying about it, discussing it with others, including his sister, evangelist Ruth Carter Stapleton, on a long walk in the woods near his home.

"I had a personal spiritual experience that is difficult to explain to people who have never had such an experience," he went on. "I began to grow. I participated in several pioneer mission efforts (in areas where Southern Baptist work is relatively new) ... I became uniquely aware of the Holy Spirit as an integral part of my life. I learned that I cannot depend on myself for every need and to solve every problem ...

"I feel my limitations more intensely. I used to deny my limitations and conceal them. Now I am much easier in my relations with other people and with God." But he added that his frankness about his faith has puzzled some secular commentators. "Some have been quizzical, some doubtful, some defensive."

While other candidates, both in this campaign and in the past, have espoused religious faith, the difference often cited is that their expression of it usually is broadly amorphous, in contrast to Carter's "specificity" — a common trait of the evangelical wing of U.S. Christianity.

Murray Lane to host 2-week VBS

Vacation Bible School and Teen College programs will begin Monday and continue through July 2 at Murray Lane Baptist Church, 807 W. Murray Lane.

Bible school classes for preschool through sixth grade children will be conducted daily from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. The Teen College event for seventh grade and above youths will meet each evening at 6:30.

A Parents' Night program is planned July 1.

If bus transportation is needed, contact the church office at telephone number 471-0034.

New Madrid church to honor founders

NEW MADRID — Beebe Memorial Christian Methodist Episcopal Church, 205 Riley St., will sponsor a Bicentennial program on June 26 and 27 as a tribute to the founding fathers of Beebe Memorial CME Church and the old O'Bannon School.

The program will get under way with a parade Saturday at 9 a.m. featuring floats, decorated cars, an area band and other participants. The parade will assemble on the county courthouse parking lot and procede down Main Street to the O'Bannon park, where an old-fashioned picnic is scheduled at noon.

To highlight the afternoon activities, J.B. "Jet" Banks, state representative from the 80th District, will be the guest speaker for 2 p.m. program which will also include several mayors of the area and other dignitaries in the community. At 4 p.m., a local band will close the afternoon program.

On Sunday, the activities will move to the Beebe Memorial Church ground where an old-fashioned Sunday School fellowship will take place at 9:30 a.m. Another special program will take place at 1:30 p.m., with local choirs singing old-fashioned spirituals and the Rev. Newton Williams, chaplain of Rust College at Holly Springs, Miss., will deliver the sermon, also on the church grounds.

Refreshments will be served afterward in the O'Bannon School cafeteria to close the weekend activities.

The theme for the celebration is "A Tribute to our Heritage during our Bicentennial Year," with the purpose being to enlighten local people of the religious and educational contributions performed by the founding fathers in the development of churches, schools and community.

Weekend services set

MOREHOUSE — The Rev. Bill Reese of Puxico will conduct services Saturday night and Sunday morning and evening at the Morehouse Assembly of God Church.

The Redemptionaires, also of Puxico, will sing during each service, according to the Rev. R.A. McAnulty, pastor, who said the evening services will begin at 7:30.

Trinity Chapel to hose singing

A gospel singing program will be presented at 7:30 tonight in Trinity Chapel Church, 107 N. Sixth St., the Rev. Jean Tolbert, pastor, has announced.

The program will feature the Harmony Singers of Paducah, Ky., and local singers.

Chiropractor to be guest speaker at Charleston

CHARLESTON — Dr. Larry Webster, a Malden chiropractor, will be the guest speaker at a 7:30 p.m. service Tuesday in the United Pentecostal Church, 307 E. Helena St.

Dr. Webster will speak on the topic, "Spiritual Healing--Miracle or Myth?, in which he will discuss areas of faith, how to get faith, the power of laying on of hands and how to achieve a point of contact with God.

A practicing chiropractor for 14 years, he is president of the Southeast Missouri Chiropractic Association and a member of International Chiropractic Association.

Dr. Webster is a brother-in-law of the Rev. Gaylon Butler, the church pastor.

Big Ridge homecoming

MATTHEWS — Big Ridge General Baptist Church, located southwest of town, will host an all day homecoming service beginning at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, according to the Rev. Lorn Ogelvie of Bernie, pastor.

The Franklin Brothers, a singing group from Kentucky, will sing.

Bicentennial gospel singing event slated

BERTRAND — A Bicentennial gospel singing program, hosted by the young adult class, will be presented at 7:30 p.m. June 25 at the Bertrand Church of God of Prophecy, the Rev. Jim Eskew, pastor, has announced.

In keeping with the Bicentennial, the theme will be "In God We Trust".

Singers will include the Tolbert Sisters of Sikeston, the Clark Singers from Pittsburg, Ill., and the Dwight Richardson Trio of Bertrand, plus others.

Each group will sing one patriotic song to commemorate the Bicentennial theme.

Twin City group to sing Sunday

PORTAGEVILLE — The Twin City Gospel Singers from Festus will be featured in a singing program from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday at First General Baptist Church.

BEDFORD, England (AP) — After he rejected a magistrate's order that a 168-pound Great Dane be destroyed because it was dangerous, Judge Robert Lymbery gave the dog a friendly pat.

The dog bit the judge's hand twice.

Give the world a little gift today. Blood.

The Colonial Times

Colonial Travel

Southerners would often stop at the homes of perfect strangers for overnight stays. Often the visits lasted for days. Servants sometimes stood by the road to invite the travelers in, since plantation owners were anxious to have news of other places.

In the northern colonies, there were many inns where guests could stay for a reasonable price. When the inns were crowded, guests often shared a room and even a bed.

Many people who could not afford horses walked for many miles.

The rivers were the highways of colonial times. Travel by boat was the quickest and most convenient way. Dugout canoes were used by Indians and colonists.

For Parents 'n Teachers

This section of The Mini Page is especially designed for parents and teachers to use with this week's Mini Page.

Page One: Go over the rules of the road. Save this issue to take along on your next trip. You can make a game with the numbers in the license plates, such as adding up each license total and seeing which is the highest. Using this sheet as a reference, you can also have each player name as many states as he can.

A well-planned trip is the key to a child's behavior. Hotel and motel reservations will be necessary for all big cities this summer. In some cases, it is suggested that visitors stay on the edge of a big city, rather than in town.

A very good source for information on Bicentennial information is the Bicentennial Times, published each month by ARBA. You can get on the mailing list by writing The American Revolution Bicentennial Administration, Box 1976, Washington, D.C., 20276. This is free.

The National Park Service Guide to Historic Places of the American Revolution is a paperback booklet that might be useful. The price is $3.15 per copy and the stock number is 2405-00517. It can be ordered from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C., 20402.

Games to Play Along the Way

ALPHABET FUN

To George Washington's House

"I am going to George Washington's house and I am taking an apple." The next player has to remember "apple" and add a word that begins with the letter B and so on through the alphabet.

This is a new version of an old game. Players must try to make their items something that could have been in use in colonial times. For a change, you can try starting at the end of the alphabet!

Alphabet Tales

Each player gives his name, what he loves, what he does and where he lives. "My name is Alice, I love alligators, I am an aviator and I live in Arkansas."

Sign On

"I see the letter A in the sign 'Raleigh'." The next player has to find the letter B in another sign.

I Spy

"I spy an object beginning with the letter A." Players have to guess what it is. The next person says,"I spy an object beginning with the letter B."

NUMBER FUN

Try to find numbers starting with the number 1 and going as high as you can. For numbers over 10, you will have to find the 1 on one sign and the other numbers on other signs.

FINISH THE STORY

One player starts telling a story. He stops just as the story gets interesting. The next player continues the story until all players have a chance. Stories about the Bicentennial would be fun.

COW POKER

Divide the players into two teams. Each team picks the side of the road nearest them and counts the number of cows. You can make up your own rules. For example, if you pass a graveyard, then you cancel all your cows and have to start again. If you pass a white horse, you get two extra points.

ATLAS FUN

Carry along an atlas. (An atlas is a book that contains a collection of maps.) Name the states where these cities are.

1. Boston
2. Houston
3. Cleveland
4. Seattle
5. Little Rock
6. Dover
7. Denver
8. Indianapolis
9. Providence

Answer block:
1. Mass., 2. Texas, 3. Ohio, 4. Wash., 5. Ark., 6. Del., 7. Col., 8. Ind., 9. R.I.

Tourists' tip — At Rapid City, South Dakota's Dinosaur Park, visitors can see huge statues of prehistoric beasts. In this park, but not pictured, is the largest copy of a prehistoric animal ever created by man. This is the Brontosaurus, which means "Thunder Lizzard." Mount Rushmore National Memorial with giant sculptures of four presidents is nearby.

Thousands of families will be exploring the country this Bicentennial year.

Are you a good tourist? Do you make getting there fun?

Check the things you do:

☐ Take along something to do or read and a pillow for a nap.

☐ Take turns at the window.

☐ Never bother the driver or fight with your brothers and sisters.

Here's a traveling game to play. Write down the license number of the first car you see from each state. Try to see how many cars from different states you can spot on your trip. If you are going on short trips keep this in the glove compartment and take it out when you are on the road.

☐ Use the bathroom when the whole family is taking a rest stop, so they won't have to make a special stop for you later.

☐ Try not to litter the car or the outside.

☐ Try not to take up more than your share of the space.

☐ Keep in mind the family budget and never beg for souvenirs or expensive meals.

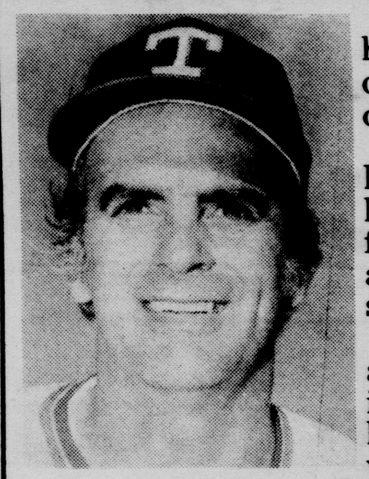

☐ Study up on what you are going to see and take an interest in the sites.

☐ Have respect for historic sites. (No tag around Lincoln's statue, please.) Keep your hands off valuable items.

☐ Help carry the bags when you arrive at the motel.

☐ Try to be pleasant, remembering that this is everybody else's vacation, too.

Super Sport: Gaylord Perry

The Texas Rangers' right-hander, Gaylord Perry, is one of big league baseball's most outstanding pitchers.

He has been playing big league ball for 13 seasons. He has won 20 games or more four times. (It is very good for a pitcher to win 20 games a season.)

He won a Cy Young award as the most valuable pitcher in his league in 1972 when he had a 24-game win record with the Cleveland Indians.

His brother, Jim, also played in the big leagues.

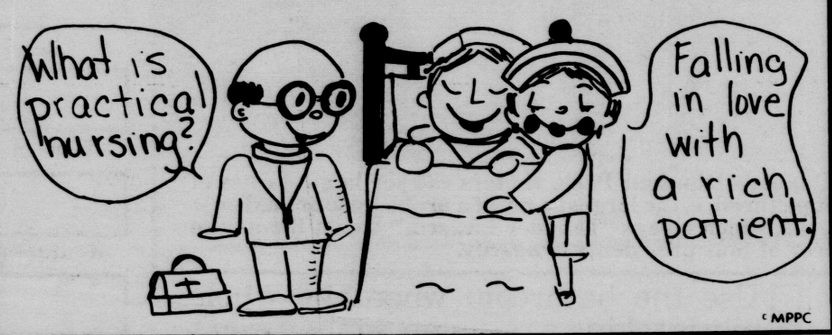

The Perry brothers grew up in Williamston, N.C. They were good high school athletes. Gaylord lives there in the off-season. He likes to farm, play golf, go hunting and fishing.

But mostly, Gaylord likes to pitch.

Are You Ready, Washington?

This spring Washington, D.C., opened five miles of a brand-new subway system. One of the stops will be the National Visitor Center, which is scheduled to open on July 4. The Center will be near the Capitol.

Washington is getting ready for thousands of visitors. Just like other cities around the country, our nation's Capital has done a lot to prepare for guests.

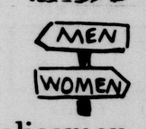

Tour reservation systems: To avoid long lines at the White House and the Washington monument, tourists will be able to make reservations. They will sit in grandstands and watch entertainment while they wait their turn.

Eagle Scouts as guides: Eagle Scouts will come to the city to help at visitor centers.

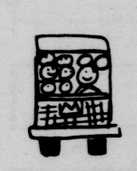

Aid to the Handicapped: Curb ramps have been added to many street curbs to help the handicapped in wheel chairs.

Comfort Stations: New comfort stations have been built.

More police: To handle the crowds, more policemen will be added to the force.

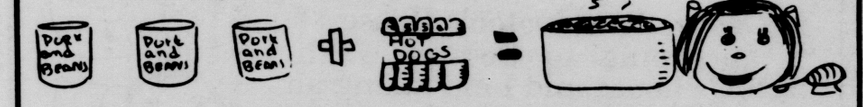

Shuttle bus service: So tourists won't have to worry about parking, shuttle bus service from nearby areas have been set up. For a fee, tourists can park their cars and ride buses to the attractions.

Camping Recipes

Baked Beans and Franks

1. Take several small cans of baked beans.
2. Cut into pieces as many hot dogs as your family will eat.
3. Mix beans and hot dogs in a pot and heat.
4. Add a little chili powder, if you like.

Biscuit Treat

1. Take a can of refrigerated biscuits. Do not separate them.
2. Take a long stick and push it through the center.
3. Bake over a fire.
4. Remove the stick and fill the hollow with butter or honey or what you like.

Magic Trick

Carry along a deck of cards to play with on your trips. Here's a fun trick you can pull on your family.

What to say: "I can tell you what card you picked."

What to do: Arrange the cards in two stacks. Put all the red cards in one stack. Put the black cards in another stack. Don't let your family know that you have separated them. They are to think that you have just divided a mixed deck.

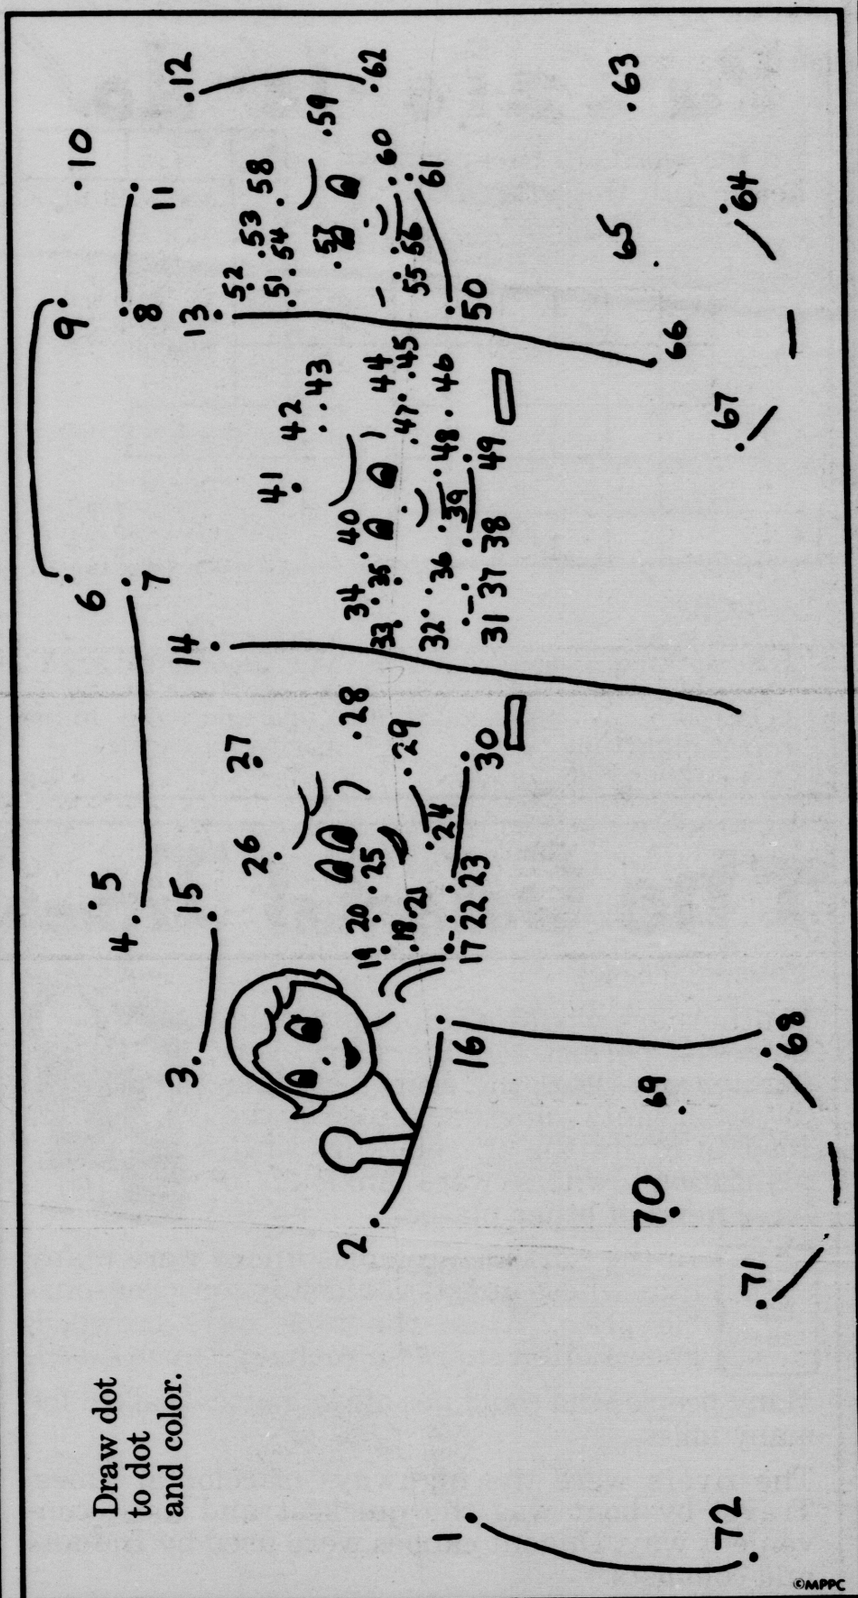

Have someone pick a card from the black pile. Keep the cards face down. Don't let them look through the pile. Let them pick a card, look at it and give it to you. Take it but don't look at it.

Then mix the card with the red pile. When you look through the pile, you can easily spot it because it will be the only black one.

Festival of American Folk Life

Children watch as a man shears a sheep.

Like many other cities, Washington is planning special Bicentennial activities and exhibits.

The summer-long Festival of American Folk Life is a big, outdoor kind of fair held on the Mall, a park between the Lincoln Memorial and the Washington monument. Music, dance, food, craft exhibits and a special children's area are part of the fun. It will run through September 6, Wednesdays through Sundays. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

If your family is planning a visit to Washington, they can write the D.C. Office of Bicentennial Programs, Communications and Public Relations, Suite 200, 777 14th St., N.W., Washington, D.C., 20005 for information.

THE RYATTS by Jack Elrod

Today in U.S. history

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, June 18th, the 170th day of 1976. There are 196 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1815, the British defeated Napoleon in the Battle of Waterloo in Belgium, ending the Napoleonic attempt to dominate Europe.

On this date:

In 1778, in the Revolutionary War, colonial forces entered Philadelphia as the British withdrew.

In 1812, the United States declared war against Britain.

In 1896, a Republican National Convention in St. Louis nominated William McKinley for President.

In 1940, in World War II, the Nazis captured the French port of Cherbourg.

In 1953, Egypt was proclaimed a Republic and Premier Mohammed Naguib became the first president.

In 1958, there was a controversy in Washington abut gifts received by President Dwight Eisenhower's executive assistant, Sherman Adams.

Ten years ago: South Vietnam maintained that the remnants of Buddhist opposition to the government were no longer a problem.

Five years ago: A federal sky marshal, disguised as a pilot, subdued a would-be hijacker aboard a Piedmont airlines jet at the Winston-Salem, North Carolina airport.

One year ago: The slayer of King Faisal of Saudi Arabia was publicly beheaded in front of the government palace in Riyadh.

Today's birthdays: Rock usician Paul McCartney is 34 years old. Actor Richard Boone is 59.

Thought for today: Some of the best boy scouts are girls — Groucho Marx.

Reagan holds on in Missouri despite the reducing number

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A delegate previously counted in Ronald Reagan's corner for the Republican National convention says she's uncommitted, reducing to 29 the number of Missouri delegates supporting the former California governor.

When Mrs. Marlene Zinzel of St. Louis County was chosen as an at-large national delegate at the Missouri state GOP convention Saturday in Springfield, she was listed on a slate backing Reagan. But when surveyed this week by The Associated Press, Mrs. Zinzel said she's uncommitted.

"They knew that when they put me on," Mrs. Zinzel said Thursday in a telephone interview. "They knew this—that I was uncommitted and that I have not completely made up my mind."

All but one of those on the Reagan slate were chosen as at-large delegates, with Gov. Christopher S. Bond the only one chosen supporting President Ford. The removal of Mrs. Zinzel from Reagan's column makes Missouri's delegation stack up this way: 29 for Reagan, 16 for Ford and four uncommitted.

Mrs. Zinzel is from the 3rd Congressional District of south St. Louis city and county, where the other three uncommitteds were chosen during district conventions in May.

Two of those uncommitteds, William Olyenick and William Skaggs, both of St. Louis, said Thursday that they were not being pressured to commit themselves to either of the two GOP candidates seeking the party's presidential nomination.

The other, Fred Whaley, could not be reached.

"I haven't been home too much, if they've been trying to reach me," Mrs. Zinzel said. "I have not completely made up my mind. I feel it's a little too soon to completely commit. I have my leanings, but I'd just as soon not disclose them."

PORTAGEVILLE— Michael Dexter Hughey, Portageville, a minor in possession of alcohol, $50 fine, and careless and reckless driving, $35 fine.

Car hit by train, no one is injured

DEXTER— A car received extensive damage when struck by a train Thursday night, but no one was injured, police said today.

The accident occurred at 11:20 p.m. when a car owned by Tootsie Randolph of Doniphan, driven by Leonard R. Jackson of Rochelle, Ill., stalled on the tracks of a railroad crossing on Locust Street.

An attempt to push the car off the tracks was being made when the train was spotted and the occupants of the car vacated the vehicle.

The Missouri Pacific train carried the car 271 feet down the tracks.

Danforth proposes limiting terms served in congress

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — "If there is anything in the United States that cries out for reform it's the Congress of the United States."

And to that end Republican senatorial candidate John C. Danforth proposed on Thursday a constitutional limitation of 12 years for members of Congress, claiming lifetime legislators "grow apart from those back home."

"I am concerned that the notion that government is of the people has been lost in recent years," said Danforth, who is giving up his post as attorney general after eight years to make a second bid for the U.S. Senate.

"Professional legislators have become a special class of people isolated in Washington from the constituencies they serve," he told newsmen.

Danforth, who said he would serve no longer than 12 years or two terms if elected this fall, admitted that it would be difficult if not impossible to get a constitutional amendment limiting terms through Congress. He said the pressure for such a change will have to come from the public.

"The people will have to demand it," Danforth said. "They will have to say, 'We don't want this group of people that has become isolated.'"

Danforth claimed that a limit on terms would result in generating new ideas for government, restraining accumulation of power by lawmakers over long tenures, halting development of special friendships or enmities that shadow decisions, reducing the damage inept or corrupt politicans can do and insuring that incumbents do not enjoy the advantages of office forever.

Claiming reform of Congress is of paramount importance, Danforth said his proposal is not merely prompted by Washington sex scandal disclosures of the past few weeks, "Although those are not harmless peccadilloes."

GREENSBORO, N.C. — David Thompson scored 23 points as the Denver Nuggets, now of the National Basketball Association, defeated the U.S. Olympic team 108-100 in an exhibition basketball game.

Hitters dominate Little League

Hitters took over the spotlight in the Sikeston Little League Thursday night at the complex. The biggest run output came in the American League, where 42 runs were scored in two games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Legion and Pizza Inn recorded victories in National League play.

Legion rallied for five runs in the bottom of the fifth to down Security National Bank 16-14. Lee Dockins rapped his fourth extra- basehit of the game, a double to drive in a pair of tallies, then scored later in the inning. Dockins also had three triples to his credit to lead a 17-hit attack for Legion. Bert Perry banged out three hits for Security National. Shane Deal was the winning pitcher, while Dennis Sanders got the loss.

Tim Lambert threw a one-hitter against A & B Leasing as Pizza Inn won 8-3 in the nightcap. Jeff Brashear was the only hitter to solve Lambert for a basehit. Mark Moore had a pair of hits to pace Pizza Inn's assault. Larry Childers was the losing pitcher.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Bridger and First National rolled to lopsided victories in a wild evening of American League action.

Bridger scored eleven runs in the first three innings as they downed Fabick 15-5. Fabick pounded out 19 hits, but could put them together for only five runs as winning pitcher Rickey Flippo struggled but held the Fabick team in check. Henderson blasted four doubles to pace Bridger's 20-hit barrage. Stinnett was the losing pitcher for Fabick.

First National Bank scored an unbelievable 20 runs in the second inning after tallying twelve times in the first as they clobbered Moore's Firestone 32-0 in a three- inning game. First National pounded out 23 hits in the game and was led by Lloyd Brewer, who socked three triples. Brewer was also the winning pitcher, blanking the losers on only three hits. Davis was the losing hurler.

MUSIAL LEAGUE

Bank of Sikeston downed Kingsway Plaza 14-5 and Collins Construction beat Harts Bread 18-2 in Musial League play.

A seven- run second inning by Bank of Sikeston highlighted their victory in the first game. Bank of Sikeston scored their 14 runs on only four hits, two of them by Allen Morris. Michael Price had a pair of hits for Kingsway. Barry Alberson was the winning hurler, while Jim Perkins was the loser.

Shawn Williams and Henry Echols had three hits apiece as Collins rolled over Harts in the second game. Collins struck for five runs in the third and seven more in the fifth to put the game away. Scott Carmody had two of Harts' three hits. Lanny Little got credit for the victory, while Jim Cowell was the loser.

Pitching rules Senior Babe Ruth

Good pitching performances by Craig Pools' Tim Lawrence and Security National's Roger Cloud helped the two teams to Senior Babe Ruth League wins at V.F.W. Stadium Thursday night.

In the opener Cloud was touched for six runs and five hits in the first two innings, as Security Bank and Trust hurler Mike McElmurry was staked to an early 6-0 lead. A two-run double by Mike Riley and two singles by Art Romanowski were keys to the run-scoring.

But, form that point on, Cloud went to work. Over the last five innings the lanky righthander didn't allow a run or a hit, with only one walk and six strikeouts.

Meanwhile, Security National reached McElmurry for three runs in the third. Then, the winners put their first seven batters on base in the sixth. Four crossed the plate and Cloud protected his one-run margin.

The loser McElmurry allowed seven hits and faned nine, walking just one. Larry Jackson contributed a double during the sixth inning rally.

Another righthander, Tim Lawrence, pitched a strong four-hitter in the nightcap to give Craig Pools the 7-2 win. Lawrence walked only one while beating Jim Moore's Don Francis, who suffered from wildness.

Craig Pools capitalized on four walks to score five runs in the fourth and assure the win. Mike Boardman ripped a double for the winners.

Francis was relieved by Johnny Greer, who allowed one hit in two innings of work.

Kuhn may stop Finley's Oakland clearance sale

NEW YORK (AP) — Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley, lashing out at a baseball system that has "no stability and no permanence," said he had no alternative but to sell three of his star ballplayers because he couldn't make a trade for them.

Finley appeared with representatives of the New York Yankees, Boston Red Sox and player union head Marvin Miller at a hearing with Commissioner Bowie Kuhn Thursday, and said the current system of player-management behavior is "wrecking the sport."

In a matter of hours Tuesday, Finley sold Joe Rudi and Rollie Fingers to the Boston Red Sox for $1 million each, then sent left-hander Vida Blue to the Yankees for $1.5 million after signing the pitcher to a three-year contract. Kuhn, prohibiting the purchased players from reporting to their new clubs, had ordered the hearing because of questions that arose in his mind over Finley's clearance sale.

"The issue is whether the assignment of the three contracts is appropriate or not under the circumstances. That's the issue I have to wrestle with," said Kuhn. "I have to consider these transactions in the best interest of baseball. I have the inherent power to do what I feel is in the best interest of baseball."

His decision regarding Finley's action was expected some time today.

The maverick A's owner had the explanation of his moves well prepared. "Clubs don't want unsigned ballplayers," he said after Thursday's hearing, referring to the fact that the three athletes sold were among seven Oakland players who had not signed contracts for the current season. "I wouldn't want one either. It was only the Red Sox and Yankees who said, 'We'll take these ballplayers, even if they're unsigned.'

"I didn't want to sell them. We had made every effort for two months to make trades — to no avail," said Finley, dressed in a grey plaid suit with a yellow golf shirt and matching hat.

"We were trying to make trades, but when we got to within six hours of the (trading) deadline, we had no alternative" but to sell the athletes.

Kuhn apparently wanted to be made sure of that, and called the hearing. Though neither would comment on what had transpired in the 90-minute session, Finley explained, "He wanted to know the reasons I sold and they bought."

Finley made it clear he felt he was right in making the deals and that "I frankly think he (Kuhn) was satisfied with the information we presented him."

Strickland is still undefeated

SENIOR

Strickland Texaco scored in every inning enroute to a 28-14 runaway over First National in Senior Girls' Softball action at Farris Field.

Shortstop Edward had a perfect, 5-for-5 night for the winners. Another shortstop, Cowan, was 3-for-3 for First Nationa.

MINOR

A seventh- inning rally fell four runs short for Barkett's E-Z Mart as they fell, 15-11, to Marks Food Mart. Ann Campbell got credit for the win, holding Barkett's to just five hits.

Marks scored seven in the second inning and five more in the third, then held the lead.

In a low- scoring contest Bank of Sikeston held off Rotary 7-4. Missy Matthews picked up the pitching win, also pitching a five-hitter.

Arizona vs Arizona St.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Arizona and Arizona State will try again tonight to decide who plays Eastern Michigan for the title in the 30th College World Series.

Rain forced postponement Thursday night of the fifth-round matchup of the two Arizona schools. The winner of the intra-state battle will meet Eastern Michigan, 46-15, for the series crown Saturday night.

Arizona, 54-17, and top-rated Arizona State, 65-9, were first-round foes in the series with Arizona State rallying for a 7-6 victory in 10 innings. The Sun Devils have beaten Arizona in all seven meetings this year.

"Rain sure doesn't help us any," said Eastern Coach Ron Oestrike. "Our pitcher (Bob Welch) was rested anyway. It could help the Arizona-Arizona State survivors because it will give their pitcher that much more rest."

Eastern Michigan, which came to the series third-rated behind Arizona State and Arizona, received a bye into the finals by winning its first three series games.

Arizona is expected to pitch senior right-hander Steve Powers, 10-4, against Arizona State. Don Hanna, 15-0, including one series victory, will be Arizona State's pitcher.

The rainout was the first in the eight-team, double-elimination series that began June 11.

Foster to start for Saints

Saturday's game at Cairo, Illinois, which starts at 4 p.m., will be used to experiment, according to the Saints. Striving to improve the Sikeston pitching staff, several hurlers will be given work against the team from across the river.

Cairo played Sikeston once last year, beating them 13-11 at V.F.W. Stadium in August. It was one of only five defeats for the Saints team. This time around, the Saints already have five defeats, but, with improved pitching the future is expected to be much better.

Cairo isn't considered to be as strong as the Bi-State League teams Sikeston has played so far, but they are good competition. Probable starter for Sikeston will be Mike Foster, but he will hurl only three innings or so. Also expected to are Jeff Jackson and Les Schatzley.

The Saints lineup:
1ST Rick Eisenbach, 3B
2ND Mitch Walker CF
3RD John Leible, C
4TH Jim Saulter, 1B
5TH Kenny Urhahn, LF
6TH Bill Schatzley, SS
7TH Stan Hall, RF
8TH Jeff Jackson, DH
9TH Stan Sorrells, 2B

K.C. Royals play Cleveland Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians try to break the .500 jinx as they take on the Kansas City Royals here for a three-game series starting tonight.

"I don't know what it is, but we seem to lose our consistency once we get to .500," said Indians Manager Frank Robinson.

The Indians haven't been able to go past one game over .500 all season, but this may be their best try so far. The club has won six of its last seven games and 15 out of the last 24. It now stands at the break-even point.

But the Royals aren't likely to be doormat opponents either. The Royals lead the American League's west division with a record of 38-20, the second best in baseball.

Kansas City's collective batting average is a league-leading .293 compared with the Indians' .258. Two Royals sluggers, third baseman George Brett and outfielder Hal McRae, are among the league's top ten hitters.

The Royals' pitching also has been outstanding. Their collective earned run average is 3.17.

When the two clubs met nine weekends ago, Kansas City took two of the three games and they have been on a winning binge ever since.

"The Royals have been outstanding...they can beat you a lot of ways...they score an awful lot of runs," Robinson said. But he added that "good pitching will stop them and I'm hoping we can get some (good pitching) this weekend."

In tonight's game, Rick Waits (1-1) of the Indians will take the mound against Dennis Leonard (6-2).

No more ABA merger complete

HYANNIS, Mass. (AP) — The Chicago Bulls and the Atlanta Hawks, the National Basketball Association's worst teams last season, figured to reap the bigget benefits with the addition of four American Basketball Association clubs to the NBA for the 1976-77 campaign.

The Bulls and Hawks will have the Nos. 1 and 2 picks, respectively, in a special dispersement draft of players from the two ABA franchises — Kentucky and Utah — which were not added to the NBA Thursday, plus players remaining from the Virginia franchise which folded following the 1975-76 season.

Most likely the Bulls, who have been struggling for several years without a high-scoring center, will select 7-foot-2 Artis Gilmore, who led Kentucky to the ABA championship in 1975. The Hawks, also lacking a good big man, would then take 6-11 Moses Malone, who stepped right into the pros from Petersburg, Va., High School in 1974 and was an immediate sensation.

The order of selection was decided upon after the announcenent of the historic merger, which will result in the Denver Nuggets, Indiana Pacers, New York Nets and San Antonio Spurs becoming a part of the NBA next sesason, bringing the league's membership to 22.

The teams will select in the inverse order of their records for last season. Following Chicago and Atlanta will be Kansas City, Detroit, Portland, New York Knicks, New Orleans, Milwaukee, Indiana, Los Angeles, Houston, Phoenix, Seattle, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Washington, San Antonio, Cleveland, New York Nets, Boston, Denver and Golden State.

It will be another opportunity for the poorer to get rich, and the for the Bulls and Hawks it could not have come at a more opportune time. Chicago finished last season with a 24-58 record and Atlanta was 29-53.

The Bulls began rebuilding last week when they chose 6-7 forward Scott May of Indiana, the College Player of the Year, on the first round of the NBA draft.

The Hawks were extremely active on the trading market as the season ended, swinging two major deals. In one transaction they obtained center-forward Joe C. Meriweather and guard Gus Bailey from the Houston Rockets and in the other they acquired guard Ken Charles and forward Dick Gibbs from the Buffalo Braves for guard Tom Van Arsdale.

The date of the dispersal draft was not set but other players expected to be among the top picks are Marvin Barnes, Ron Boone, Maurice Lucas and Bird Averitt.

Perhaps the two biggest losers in the the agreement will be Los Angeles and New Orleams. Both had forfieted their first-round draft choices in 1977 in a recent supplemental draft of underclassmen who have signed by the the ABA this season but were not chosen by NBA clubs. In that draft, the Lakers took Mark Olberding, a strong rebounder who now will remain with San Antonio, and the Jazz chose the highly prized Malone.

That draft was voided by the agreement between the leagues.

SPORTS

HAZEL PARK, Mich. (AP) — Wayne Catalano, leading jockey at the Hazel Park race track, was suspended for five days Thursday for rough riding.

Catalano brought John Lighter home in front by 8½ lengths in the fifth race Tuesday but was disqualified for bumping on the first turn. The suspension followed. Catalano had won 104 races thus far this season at Hazel Park.

In another disciplinary action, stewards set down trainer Al Vizcaya for 30 days after finding an illegal substance in a saliva test on Ray Bauer, who won the sixth race June 10.

2. Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere gratitude for all the kindnesses and courtesies extended to us at the passing of our loved one, Dorothy Beggs. We also wish to thank those who visited in the hospital and the staff of Mo. Delta Community Hospital. A special thanks to Dr. A.P. Sargent. We thank those who assisted at the services, the trio, and the Revs. Noah Cox and Jimmy Edmundson, those who sent the lovely flowers and thoughtful gifts of food. We appreciate the kindness of the staff of the Nunnelee funeral home. In memory of our loved one---the family of Dorothy Beggs.

MR. PROPST SAYS!

There is nothing made on earth but what some man will try to cheapen it a bit and to sell it for less.
WE AT PROPST BELIEVE,
Quality for Quality our prices are fair and reasonable.
An important consideration is the service you will get at the time of the sale and continue to get long afterwards. Prize quality is remembered long after price is forgotten.

FROM THE DESK OF CHARLES M. MITCHELL:
Many owners, and even some Brokers, whose homes have languished on the market for several months are mistakenly blaming it on a temporary sales slump. Realistic pricing means specific data on comparable properties which have recently sold, those still on the market which will be competitive, and properties withdrawn after being rejected by the market at a too-high asking price.

Jazz Festival will salute Duke Ellington

NEW YORK (AP) — From a four-part salute to the late Duke Ellington to the electronic jazz of Billy Cobham and the George Duke Band, the Newport Jazz Festival will be a musicl mix of jazz sounds old and new.

The 10-day festival begins Friday, June 25, with Tony Bennett and Bill Evans, and closes July 5 with the swinging dance music of Cootie Williams, Eddie "Lockjaw" Davis, Zoot Sims and other jazz greats of that era at the Roseland Ballroom.

In between is a jazz "who's who," including musical tributes to the late saxophonists Julian "Cannonball" Adderley and John Coltrane. Last year pianist Thelonious Monk came out of retirement to play at the festival. This year, guitarist Tal Farlow has shed his retirement to perform.

"The Newport Jazz Festival has always presented a good cross-section of jazz," says festival producer George Wein. "This year we're trying to stock with as many pure jazz groups as possible. Last year we mixed in a few commercial groups, and the audience didn't like it."

Wein predicts the 1976 production will be one of the best years for the festival because of the diversity of the artists.

"We've found such a great spirit of cooperation with the musicians," he said. "They want to do something special this year."

For example, bass player Charlie Mingus, who has fallen in love with flamenco music, will perform with the Azucena y Edo Flamenco Dance Group. And a Radio City Music Hall concert salute to the Rev. John Gensel, pastor to the jazz community, will also honor Rahsaan Roland Kirk, who recently suffered a stroke but has been able to resume his career. A portion of the proceeds from the show will be donated to Kirk for his medical expenses.

Three events will be held outside New York City at Waterloo Village in Stanhope, N.J., a canal town of preserved 18th and 19th century structures.

The first program to be held there June 26 is a gospel picnic, featuring choirs and gospel performers from the New York-New Jersey area. That evening, the State of New Jersey will honor its native son, Count Basie. Basie and his orchestra will perform with Eubie Blake, the 93-year-old ragtime composer-pianist.

Later in the festival, Basie will give a free concert at the World Trade Center to celebrate the nation's bicentennial on July 4.

The last event at Waterloo Village is a "jazz picnic" on June 27. Earl "Fatha" Hines, Pee Wee Erwin and Teddy Wilson will perform.

What's the law?

The case of the costly punch

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

K.O. Jones signed a contract to fight a 10-rounder with Glass-Jaw Kelly. Under the terms of the contract, both boxers agreed to abide by the rules of the State Athletic Commission, which provided for no hitting below the belt.

And sure enough, during the second round of the bout, that's just what happened. K.O. unleashed his famous and fearsome haymaker which, unfortunately, landed south of Kelly's border. The result: Kelly was totally incapacitated, the fith was stopped--and so was payment of K.O.'s purse.

"By hitting Kelly below the belt," K.O. was told, "you breached the rules of the State Athletic Commission and, consequently, your contract. Therefore, you forfeited your purse."

"I'd have to be punch-drunk to buy that," was K.O.'s answer. "I didn't hit Kelly below the belt on purpose--I was aiming for his chin. Because the blow went a little off course--which is apt to happen in the heat of any fight--is no basis for holding up my money. Losing the fight was punishment enough. I want my money."

When it still wasn't forthcoming, K.O. Jones sued for it in court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you give K.O. Jones the decision and his purse?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that in order to collect under a contract, a sizable portion of the contract must be carried out. And, in this case, there was no substantial performance since, due to K.O.'s foul, the 10-round fight lasted only two rounds. What's more, concluded the judge, whether or not the foul was deliberate made no difference. It was an act which K.O. had contracted not to perform.

Highway being paved

Workmen from Missouri Petroleum Products Co. of St. Louis continue work on Highway 114 between Sikeston and Morehouse, which will leave the road six feet wider at 24 feet and a lot smoother. According to Missouri State Highway Department officials, the project of paving and widening the 2.7-mile portion of the road, from Sikeston to Route BB is 40 per cent complete, and is expected to be finished by Aug. 1. Total cost of the project is expected to be $333,000.

U.S. asking Americans to leave Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The U.S. Embassy here "strongly urged" Americans to leave Lebanon today following the assassination of the U.S. ambassador and his economic counselor.

In Washington, President Ford ordered the Embassy to evacuate by convoy any U.S. citizens who want to leave war-torn Lebanon but said the convoy would not have U.S. military protection. Ford canceled a political trip to Iowa and met with his top national security advisers for a third straight day.

A spokesman at the Embassy in Beirut said that its advice to Americans was one notch more urgent than a warning standing since October calling on U.S. citizens to clear out unless they have pressing reasons to stay.

The embassy advised Americans who want to leave to join a convoy organized by the British Embassy departing Saturday morning for Damascus under protection from Palestinian, Libyan and Syrian troopers.

Of the 1,350 Americans and their 470 non-U.S. dependents in Lebanon, 30 had signed up for the British-sponsored trip by late Friday afternoon, he said.

A British official said 600 Britons were expected to take the convoy, leaving places for 1,100 other foreigners.

There was no visible panic among Americans in Beirut.

The spokesman listed these reasons for increasing the urgency of the advice now:

—The British-run convoy with protection from guerrillas, Syrians and Libyan officers, presented a good opportunity for Americans who want to get out.

—The closure of Beirut airport has sealed the last convenient route in and out of Lebanon, increasing a sense of being trapped among those caught in the war.

—The assassination of Ambassador Francis E. Meloy, Jr. on Wednesday.

The spokesman declined to say whether the Beirut Embassy requested authorization to make the advice more urgent or whether orders to do so came from Washington.

The distinct impression among observers here reading comments by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and other Washington officials, was that concern was higher in Washington than in Beirut.

Most Americans who wanted to get out of the war-shattered country over the last 14 months of fighting have done so. The airport was operating regularly until June 6 and, although risky, individual trips to Damascus by road were possible until last week.

"I'm not taking advice from an embassy that can't protect its own ambassador," said an American professor at the American University of Beirut who planned to stay on.

The bodies of Meloy and his aide were driven toward Damascus early today under protection of guerrillas, two Libyan officers in blue berets and Syrian soldiers as part of a British test convoy of 13 cars.

4 others injured in accidents

Woman hurt in head-on wreck

A Senath woman was seriously injured in a head-on collision and four persons received minor injuries in three single-vehicle accidents Thursday and early today, the highway patrol reported today.

The lone two-car accident occurred at 3:30 p.m. Thursday on a township road seven miles southwest of Kennett, when a car driven west by Charles Henry Parker, 34, of Kennett and a car driven east bound by Pat Wayne Edwards, 17, of Kennett, collided on a curve.

Injured seriously was a passenger in the Parker vehicle, Mavis Harris, 60, of Senath, who was taken to the Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett.

Two passengers received minor injuries at 4:15 p.m. Thursday when Jack Wyight Powell, 43, of Advance lost control of a northbound car on highway 25 when he swerved to avoid hitting two dogs and the vehicle overturned.

Powell's wife, Wanda Powell, 40, and Goldie Potter, 69, of St. Louis were taken to Dexter Memorial Hospital.

An accident at 1:50 a.m. today on Highway 60 eight miles northwest of Poplar Bluff resulted in minor injuries to the driver, Albert Leo Frye, 69, of Poplar Bluff.

The patrol reported the eastbound Frye car ran off the south side of the road, then came back onto the road and off again, then overturned.

Frye was taken to Lucy Lee Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

At 2:05 a.m. today, four miles north of Wappapello on Route Z, Larry Junior Grimes, 34, of Wappapello was driving a tractor-trailer truck loaded with watermelons north when the steering mechanism apparently malfunctioned, causing the truck to run off the left side of the road down a ravine and overturn.

Grimes received minor injuries but was not taken to a hospital.

Two persons were injured Wednesday in two separate accidents on area roads, according to the highway patrol.

A Sikeston man sustained moderate injuries at 10:15 a.m. Wednesday in a three-truck

Cox is sponsored by the Lions Club and attends Sikeston High School, where he is active in National Honor Society, band and choir.

Montgomery is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and is active in Student Council, tennis, Foreign Language Club, Debate Club and National Honor Society at Sikeston High School. He also participates in Church League basketball and Senior Babe Ruth League baseball.

American Legion Boys State of Missouri is a citizenship training program designed to augment and supplement existing courses of instruction in schools.

Bond signs law creating new court

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Settlement of small civil disputes without legal red tape will open up the state's court system to the people and increase public respect for law, Gov. Chrisoopher S. Bond says.

Bond, who signed into law on Thursday a bill setting up a small claims court, called the proposal "one of the most important measures" passed by the General Assembly during the recent legislative session.

The bill, signed during Bond's appearance at the meeting of the Missouri Judical Conference here, will go into effect Aug. 13.

"The much needed reforms in this measure will make our courts more accessible to the public and, in turn, will strengthen the public's respect for our laws," Bond said.

The governor also signed three other bills into law including one revamping the public defender system and authorizing the injection of another $1 million annually in state support for the financially-troubled program.

Under the small claims bill, magistrate judges will hear civil disputes involving less than $500 one day a week or more often if needed.

Persons involved in the suits can be represented by attorneys if they wish, but an attorney isn't necessary and the normal formal courtroom procedures and rules will not be used. A similar measure died a year ago because it barred persons from being represented by an attorney.

Four claims can be filed within any 12-month period for a fee of $10 each although claims involving $100 or less carry only a $5 filing fee.

The bill also revamps the magistrate court system, permitting magistrates to be appointed acting circuit judges in special non-controversial cases in an effort to ease crowded circuit court dockets.

Haywood City receives subsidy

BENTON — In a telephone conversation Thursday, the Scott County Court received word from Jerry Turner, a Department of Housing and Urban Development official at St. Louis, that Haywood City had been granted a $9,000 per year housing subsidy.

The subsidy is for a three - year period under the Section 8 Existing Housing Program.

Under the program, HUD will provide housing assistance payments on behalf of eligible lower- income families whose income does not exceed 80 per cent of the median income for the locality. This payment will make up the difference between the approved rent for the unit and the amount the family is required to pay, which is not less than 15 per cent nor more than 25 per cent of the family's adjusted income.

The rental rates set by HUD are: one- bedroom unit, $121; two- bedroom unit, $142; and three- bedroom unit, $157.

Private owners may participate in the Section 8 program by leasing existing decent, safe and sanitary housing to lower-income families. Under this program, a family which is determined eligible by the Public Housing Authority will be given a certificate of family participation.

The family may then seek a suitable living unit. If the owner is willing to lease a unit, and the unit is determined to be in decent, safe and sanitary condition, and if the gross rent is within the HUD- established fair market rent for the existing housing, a lease may be executed between the owner and the family, and a housing assistance payments contract will be executed between the Public Housing Authority and the owner.

The contract will assure a monthly payment to the owner in an amount sufficient to make up the difference between the rent payable by the family and the contract rent to the owner.

Louie Hirschowitz of Oran, presiding judge of the County Court, said the Sikeston Housing Authority would handle the paper work for the Haywood City housing units.

David Mann of Sikeston, secretary- treasurer for the St. Johns Bayou Levy District, told the County Court that the Corps of Engineers wants to do more drainage work with federal funding.

He said there would be a Senate subcommittee hearing in Washington on June 23, which he will attend as attorney for the St.

Marijuana plants went up in smoke

BLOOMFIELD — About 300 "good, healthy" marijuana plants went up in smoke Thursday morning after the Stoddard County Sheriff's Department were told of their existence and their location.

The plants were apparently being cultivated in the Avert community near the Castor River.

No charges have been filed but the investigation is continuing.

The plants were all in a single plot and about three feet tall. The sheriff's department pulled up all the plants and burned them just before noon Thursday.

The plants were not noticeable from the road.

Hays quits house post; may not seek reelection

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wayne Hays, whose relationship with Elizabeth Ray touched off the Capitol Hill payroll sex scandal, said today he is stepping down as chairman of the House Administration Committee.

"The charges which have been made against me and the current state of my health make it impossible for me to devote time necessary to carry out my responsibilities as chairman of the House Administration Committee," Hays said in a letter to the Democratic leadership.

The three-paragraph letter was released by Hays' office shortly after House Speaker Carl Albert announced that Hays had told him he is relinquishing the powerful committee post.

But Hays, who is recovering in a Barnsville, Ohio, hospital from an overdose of sleeping pills, indicated he might try to regain the post later.

"I am confident that I will be vindicated as to any wrongdoing and when that occurs, I shall ask for a re-examination of my position by the (House Democratic) caucus," the letter concluded.

Sources close to the Democratic leadership said Thursday night that Hays will soon announce plans not to run for re-election in November. Hays previously stepped down as chairman of the House Democratic campaign committee which channels campaign funds to candidates.

2 sought in shotgun shooting

CARUTHERSVILLE — Two Caruthersville men are being sought following a shotgun shooting in which two Hayti men were wounded at 1:33 this morning at the Bel-Air Cafe.

Authorities are looking for Benny Johnson, alias James Johnson, and Larry Wilson, alias "Tuck" Johnson, in connection with the shooting this morning of Jackie Sullivan, 24, and Willie Williams, 22, of Hayti.

The shooting followed an argument between the four men, reportedly over a woman.

Sullivan was shot in the upper left arm and Williams was shot in the upper left chest. Both were taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti and later transferred to a St. Louis hospital, where they are listed in fair condition, a spokesman for the Pemiscot County Sheriff's Department said.

Burlison, Taylor records sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has been asked to turn over to the Justice Department financial records of nine members accused of receiving federal travel funds to which they were not entitled, an informed source said Thursday night.

The department is seeking the records to look into the possibility of suing the legislators under a federal law permitting the recovery of double the amount of money paid out by the government in false claims, the source said.

The law also permits the government to get civil penalties of $2,000 for each false payment.

The fraud section of the Justice Department's civil division sent a formal request for the records to the House Administration Committee, headed by Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, who is himself being investigated for allegedly putting Elizabeth Ray in a $14,000-a-year House job in exchange for sexual favors.

As of Thursday, the source said, no response to the request had been received.

Asked what the department might do if the request were turned down, the source said, "I don't know what the next stop would be."

Although the source did not recall the names of the nine legislators, the Washington Post said in its Friday edition that they were Reps. Ray Madden, D-Ind., chairman of the House Rules Committee; Margaret Heckler, R-Mass.; Tim Lee Carter, R-Ky.; Walter Flowers, D-Ala.; Otto Passman, D-La.; Bill D. Burlison D-Mo.; George Shipley, D-Ill.; Robert Jones, D-Ala.; and Gene Taylor, R-Mo.

There have been news reports that the nine have received payments for automobile trips when they actually traveled by airplane. Automobile mileage paid by the House for long trips exceeds the air fares to the same destinations.

At least five of the representatives said they subsequenly paid back to the government the sums under dispute, the Post reported. It quoted them as listing the following repayments: Heckler, $1,919.04; Carter, $1,378; Passman, $1,521; Flowers, "in excess of $600"; and Jones, $801.22.

It said Madden, Burlison and Taylor could not be reached for comment. Shipley and the other five said the disputed payments resulted from clerical errors or misunderstandings stemming from a change last year in the method of computing trip reimbursements.

The Justice Department also is weighing the possibility of suing Hays and Miss Ray under the false-claims statute to recover the funds paid Miss Ray. And two weeks ago, the department took charge of a false-claims suit against Rep. William L. Clay, D-Mo., also charged with collecting reimbursement for auto travel he didn't make.

The Clay suit originally was instituted by a Buffalo, N.Y., law student, Alan R. Hollander.

A Washington attorney, W. Edward Thompson, filed suit Wednesday against Hays and Miss Ray under the same statute. The law requires the Justice Department to decide within 60 days of notification whether it will intervene and take control of such suits.

ELDRIDGE CLEAVER ON AMERICA

Eldridge Cleaver. The name evokes disturbing memories of racial violence during the last decade, firey rhetoric, and shootouts with police. Cleaver was head of the Black Panthers before fleeing the U.S. in 1968, the police in pursuit.

But Cleaver is now back in the U.S. after a swallow of life abroad, and the tune he's singing today is a far different tune. He returned to face jail last year rather than live under political asylum abroad any longer; and insists he doesn't regret the decision despite his current incarceration for charges stemming from a shootout with the Oakland police in 1968.

In an interview carried recently in the Washington Star newspaper, Cleaver expressed these thoughts:

"I'm not sorry I came back, because at least my children are back here, and my wife is back, and I am back, even though I am not free. (The interview was by telephone from an Oakland jail.) I am back in America, in the English langauge. I wouldn't have it any other way. Even if I die in jail, I feel that I did the right thing in coming back."

The writer who interviewed Cleaver, Don Branning, writes: "Cleaver returned saying that for all its faults, the United States was the best, most flexible and hopeful system in the world. He criticizes 'petty, vicious dictators' in the African nations, Arab racism toward blacks below the Saraha, and repression he saw in the Communist countries he once idealized."

Cleaver is quoted by Branning as saying of his generation that "You criticize the system to hell," but that "at a certain point, you are obligated to come up with some answers. Not just to continue criticism to the end of your day. I'm 40 years old now. I think that we have an obligation to come up with some solutions. To come up with some alternatives, some programs."

Thank you, Eldridge Cleaver, for that Bicentennial gift. Just one thought: Is there some way that Jeremy Rifkin and his fellow radicals of the 1970's could now be persuaded to take an extended trip aborad to learn, as Cleaver has learned so belatedly, the blessings of being an American?

XXX

AH, POOR OZONE

Ah, the poor ozone layer. First it was manmade fluorocarbons which were breaking down the protective shield in the upper atmosphere that blocks harmful radiation from the sun. (Or which aren't breaking it down, depending upon what scientific report you've read most recently.)

Now another threat to the ozone has been discerned in the form of carbon tetrachloride, the familiar dry-cleaning compound, which is also used in fire extinguishers and for many other purposes. Like the fluorocarbons, carbon tetrachloride can trigger a chemical chain reaction which breaks apart ozone molecules.

According to Dr. Aubrey P. Altshuller of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, increasing amounts of carbon tetrachloride have been measured in the atmosphere, but the mystery is that there has not been enough of the chemical produced and used worldwide to account for it all. Thus, he believes, there must be a large natural source — still unknown — of carbon tetrachloride.

"It appears urgent," says the chemist, that we find out where this extra carbon tetrachloride is coming from.

Pardon us, but we think we'll pass on this crisis. Our sense of urgency is showing signs of depletion worse than that of the much-abused ozone layer.

"There certainly aren't skeletons in your closet!"

P.S. TO THE NEWS

LEONOR SULLIVAN
By PHYLLIS SCHLAFLY
Copley News Service

Among the congressmen who will be retiring at the end of this year is one of the most conscientious and capable ever to serve: Leonor K. Sullivan, now completing her 24th year representing the people of St. Louis. She has built her record in Congress and big majorities among the voters by diligent devotion to her constituency and by capable craftsmanship in the art of legislation.

Mrs. Sullivan, a Democrat, has been duly recognized by her peers in a highly competitive Congress.

She served for 14 years as chairman of the House subcommittee on the Panama Canal and is now chairman of the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee–only the third woman in the history of the House to serve as chairman of a major legislative committee.

She has been an articulate opponent of what she has aptly called the "sustained campaign by the State Department since 1964 to erode U.S. sovereign rights, power and authority" over the U.S. Canal in Panama. She has warned that continued U.S. ownership and control are essential not only to the fate of the canal itself, but also to the entire Caribbean area which, in her words, "is already well on its way to becoming a Red lake."

The test of an effective legislator is how much he gets accomplished in spite of our cumbersome committee and congressional processes.

Mrs. Sullivan successfully pioneered in consumer legislation long before it became fashionable.

She introduced and guided to passage the 1968 Consumer Credit Protection Act known as the Truth-in-Lending Act.

She introduced and helped to pass the 1970 Fair Credit Reporting Act to enable consumers to protect themselves against arbitrary and erroneous information.

She was instrumental in the passage of the 1958 Food Additives Act, which requires pretesting of chemical additives in foods, the 1960 Color Additives Act and the 1961 Hazardous Substances Labeling Act.

As the ranking member of the Banking and Currency Committee, Mrs. Sullivan deserves much of the credit for raising federal insurance coverage on bank and savings and loan deposits from $10,000 to $15,000 and then to $40,000.

It is too bad that Congress failed to take Mrs. Sullivan's good advice about housing legislation, another of her longtime interests. She has opposed high-rise public housing for families with children, stressing the superiority of garden-type buildings and the need for regulations to require public housing tenants to be responsible for the maintenance of their units.

Leonor Sullivan is a strong advocate of women's rights, and, therefore, worked actively for the provisions against sex discrimination in the Equal Pay Act of 1963, the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and increased Social Security benefits for women.

When Leonor Sullivan retires from Congress at the end of this year, it will probably be a long time before her unique place in our government can be filled.

NOTHING IS EXEMPT

The nation's official inflation watchers report each month that the Consumer Price Index has jumped up another percentage point or so. Rates for electric service are also on the way up. Any question concerning the need for electric rate increases should be dissipated by figures describing the actual experience of a major utility company operating a large electric generating and transmission system in the eastern part of the United States.

In the company's operating area in 1946, a 16-ounce loaf of bread sold for 11 cents; in 1974, the same loaf of bread was 37 cents. Comparative statistics for other elements in the average family's cost of living were given as follows: one quart of milk 17 cents to 41 cents; one gallon of gasoline 22 cents to 55 cents and a standard development home $7,900 to $36,000. The mortgage interest rate rose from 4.5 percent to 9 percent and the typical annual mortgage payment (60 percent mortgage) went from $316 to $2,175. Such figures tell what inflation has done to the dollar's value when it comes to paying for some of the things we cannot do without. By contrast, in 1946 this utility company sold electricity to its residential customers for an average kilowatt-hour price of 3.55 cents. In 1966, the price had dropped to 2.42 cents per kilowatt-hour and even today, after soaring costs have necessitated rate increases, the company's charge per kilowatt-hour for the average residential customer is still only 3.40 cents per kwh or 96 percent of the 1946 cost. This is not bad in view of the fact that the major operating overhead of an electric company is made up of the costs of construction, equipment, fuel and the amount of interest or dividends that must be paid to attract investment capital required for the construction of new plants and facilities. These major elements of utility overhead have risen in price at a faster clip than just about anything else in the economy, increasing by anywhere from 1150 to 300 or 400 percent in the past five or six years alone.

If there is to be enough electricity to keep the U.S. moving, electric rates must continue to go up. Power consumers and regulatory commissions must recognize the necessity of rate increases promptly given and of sufficient size to meet increased operating costs and pay returns adequate to attract investment capital. Electricity may be a necessity of rate increases promptly given and of sufficient size to meet increased operating costs and pay returns adequate to attract investment capital. Electricity may be a necessity of modern life, but it can never be free or unaffected by inflation any more than the roof over our heads, the food we eat or, for that matter, the clean air we breathe.

A TOOTHSOME HOLD ON THE PRICE LINE

The nation's bill for health care last year topped out at $118.5 billion, up 13.9 per cent over 1974's $104 billion. This $14.5-billion growth was the largest dollar increase in history.

Interestingly—and maybe significantly—expenditures on dental care continued a long-term decline as a percentage of health care costs. According to the Social Security Administration, dental care in 1975 accounted for $7.5 billion, or 6.3 per cent, of the health care total. This compares to 6.5 per cent in 1974, 9.1 per cent in 1971 and 10.1 per cent in 1950.

Why is the dental care tail getting smaller while the total health care dog is getting bigger? The answer may be found in looking at the level of public funding of health care, suggests Dr. Robert B. Shirea, president of the American Dental Association (ADA).

Currently, he points out, governmental bodies pay about 40 per cent of the nation's total health care costs. Dentistry, however, is financed almost exclusively through the private sector, with only 5.5 per cent of the total national dental bill coming from government funds.

At the same time, dentistry has managed to hold the price line. According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, dental fees have increased slightly less than average prices in the economy during the past seven years.

One reason for this is technology and increased productivity. The high-speed drill, for example, developed by the ADA and offered gratis to all dentists, has been comparable to adding the equivalent of 1,174 dentists, says University of Michigan economist Paul Feldstein.

But the primary reason, says Shira, is the system itself. "The private (dental) preactitioner has none of the time-consuming administrative stricutres of a clinic, which is generally laden with paperwork and red tape."

The dental profession supports national health insurance programs if they can be devised to maximize the impact of federal funds on the nation's dental health, he says. Priorities should be given to care for children and emergency care for all, and public funds should be restricted to those who cannot afford to pay for health care themselves.

But above all, national health care programs should take full advantage of the economics and patient conveniences provided by the nation's existing private dental system which, claims Shira, has given the United States "unquestionably the best dental care and health level in the world."

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Energy Among Friends
with LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON— In tne grand Washington manner, the development of energy for the future is being shaped largely by friendship and favoritism. The juiciest contracts are going to a corporation with the right friend in the right place.

Seldom have the stakes been higher. The research contracts will probably determine what forms of energy the nation will use to run its factories and heat its homes.A small contract, therefore, could lead to a big development worth untold billions.

The national effort to make the United Staes independent of overseas oil began three years ago. But while Project Independence blueprints gather dust and energy czars come and go, two former pentagon pals have been quietly charting the nation's energy development.

Dr. Robert Seamans, head of the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA), and John Foster, a vice president of TRW, Inc., have been close friends since they served together on an Air Force advisory board in the late 1950s.

Now they have teamed up to plan ERDA's energy research program. If the alliance hasn't always worked to the advantage of the taxpayers,it has worked to the advantage of Foster's firm.

TRW has picked up nearly $24 million in noncompetitive contracts from ERDA. Two of the contracts weren't even solicited but were thrust upon the company, a procedure that is unusual if not unknown in the history of dispensing federal funds.

The contracting system at ERDA works in a unique way. Sources say it sometimes consists of Seamans and Foster chewing the fat and coming up with a project they like. Seamans gives the order, and TRW gets the work.

Foster has heavily involved, for example, in setting up ERDA's most important contract: a study to determine which energy technologies the agency should concentrate upon developing. The profit-motivted TRW and a nonprofit group called Mitre were selected to produce the answers.

TRW has a financial stake in the electrical industry, which is eager to develop nuclear power as the energy of the future. This can be distributed, of course, in the form of electricity over the industry's existing lines.

Not surprisingly, the study that came out of TRW and Mitre put the biggest emphasis on nuclear energy and fossil fuels, while solar and other more experimental technologies were downplayed.

TRW was not content, meanwhile, just to win the ERDA contracts. On at least one occasion, the firm was paid by ERDA to conduct a study, which recommended the construction of an experimental ocean electric plant in Hawaii or Puerto Rico. TRW, it turns out, was part of a consortium then developing an energy research park in Hawaii on the precise site the company had recommended.

In a talk with our associate Jack Cloherty, Seamans acknowledged that he and Foster have had a long relationship but denied any impropriety in awarding ERDA contracts to his old friend's firm. He pointed out that TRW is a respected and capable company.

Seamans also admitted that he and Foster have talked often about ERDA's planning and contracting. But he denied that the two of them just cook up plans and write up contracts.

"It has never been that-simplistic," he said. "I talk to him and to a very large number of other people."

Footnote: Foster did not return our calls.

CARTER'S CHOICE: The triumphant Democratic presidential candidate, Jimmy Carter, is playing his political cares close to his chest. But the word has leaked out from his inner circle that he's looking for a running mate who has Washington experience and liberal credentials.

Our contacts inside the Carter camp were impressed with Sen. Frank Church, D.-Idaho, who made a strong showing in the West where Carter was weak. Church's campaign style – his youthful good looks and wholesome appeal, with his family at his side-- reportedly made a favorable impact on the people around Carter.

Rep. Mo Udall, D.-Ariz., on the other hand, wound up ruffling them before the campaign was over. Yet they recognize that his Lincolnesque looks and Will Rogers humor made him a formidable campaigner. It might also take Udall on the ticket to prevent many disenchanted librals from deserting the Democratic Party in November.

Others in the Carter fold are eager to sound out Sen. Edward Kennedy, D.-Mass., about taking second place on the Democratic ticket. In addition to his liberal appeal, he also has a big following among Catholics, Jews and blue-collar workers.

Although he has said he's not interested in the job, a stint as Vice President would give him a chance to put Chappaquiddick behind him and prove himself to the nation.

But other Carter aides feel, in view of the Washington sex scandals, that this is the wrong year to bring up Chappaquiddick as an issue.

Another name heard inside the Carter camp is that of Sen. John Glenn, D.-Ohio, who has an All-American quality that appeals to the Carter people. Surprisingly, they don't seem too interested in Cailfornia's Gov. Jerry Brown, who made such a spectacular showing in the last days of the campaign.

But it will be Carter who makes the final selection, not his aides. And none of them profess to know .hatle i' thinking; even those to whom he is accessible, often find him inaccessible.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Challenges Unions:
Simon sets July 1 Deadline, Warns NYC Labor -- no restraint, no cash -- only Bankruptcy

NEW YORK – With the table stakes at well over a billion dollars -- not to mention the financial life of the nation's biggest city -- Secretary of the Treasury William Simon has just told it like it is to the country's most powerful, pace-setting, tradition-making municipal labor chiefs. Simon, who once told a high presidential aide and confidant to "keep his cotton-pickin' hands" off some policy, has just told the Big Apple's union leaders that neither he nor his Tressury Department "will come down to the line and play chicken-head."

He's warned them the big town just won't get the $1.1 billion loan it needs to exist unless there's a positive freeze on all wages and fringes by July 1. Period. That's it. No ifs, no buts, no money. And that means bankruptcy for Gotham.

When reminded of the unionis' pledges of productivity to make up for net pay-fringe increases, Simon retorted he didn't believe their followers would work harder and that such pledges were "bull- - - -."

He said he wasn't about to get into a fight with a "skunk" -- a rather mild rebuttal to the proletarian cultural charges by Victor Gotbaum, Municipal Labor Committee chief who also heads the nation's biggest civil service union coalition. Gotbaum refers to critics as "finks" or "basket cases" or unblinkingly goes scatological like sluggers in ancient freighters' fo'c's'les.

So, with Chicago, Philadelphia and other big cities running into heavy deficits, all eyes are on the New York deadline -- July 1. That day, to keep New York operative, Simon must begin pouring in $1.1 billion as the federal loan quota for the month. But, Simon says, "We made an agreement which hinges on the pledge of a wage-fringe freeze." No freeze, no money.

In effect that's what Deputy Secretary of the Treasury Robert Gerard, speaking for Simon, told little David, otherwise known as Mayor Abe Beame, in an unreported telephone conversation last Tuesday afternoon, June 8.

For all cities seeking succor from the federal Treasury, this call was historic. Gerard said,in effect, there must be no doubt that the scores of municipal labor contracts expiring June 30 won't contain wage-fringe increases. Therefore this must all be locked up by July 1, avers Simon. He says neither he nor the Treasury are going to get "dragged" into July while the histrionic and oft-hysterical negotiations are underway with unions of municipal workers threatening to shut off the police, the firefighting, the sewage treatment plants, the hospitals, sanitation – you name it. Simon says he's not about to hand over the $1.1 billion and then be told -- sorry, but we had to sign the more costly contracts.

Simon reckons Gotbaum correctly. The labor chief now heading for the national American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes (AFL-CIO) convention in Miami Beach's Fontainebleu Hotel has promised his "followship" he'd deliver a healthy new contract. Simon asks who is going to pay for it?

Already, New York City's deficit runs $1.1 billion annually. That must be cut from the budget in less than three years. This means heavy layoffs. There is seniority. Thus it's last-hired, first-fired. This means slashing black, Puerto Rican and female workers. So the bantam mayor is on the anvil.

Gotbaum's new demands spur cheers from his 108,000 members. For example, a big bloc of them is asking for about 25 per cent more in wages over two years. On a 35-hour week. And overtime after 35 hours. Time and a half in cash. Triple time now for holiday work (and there are lots of holidays in this town), double time in cash and day-for-day compensatory time off. And a 10 per cent higher differential for any work done between 4 p.m. and 8 a.m. And a citywide holiday on Jan. 15 to honor Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Unused annual leave should be carried over for three years at the employe's option. Four years' child care leave without loss in seniority for any male or female entrusted with the raising of a baby or youngster. There are more. But you get the general idea.

All this atop one of the most costly and comprehensive municipal employes health insurance coverage plans in America. It costs the city an average of $1,049.39 per employe per year to provide this health service compared with Boston's 50-50 contributed $403.92; San Francisco's $414 (city pays all); New York State's $581.85; the federal government's $613.32 and the private sector's $375.

This plus special benefits such as free eyeglasses, 75-cent prescriptions, free dental care and free life insurance now costs $291.4 million a year compared with $8.4 million in 1961.

Included in the health insurance program are the spouse, dependents, retirees and even part-time and seasonal workers.

Thus the Big Apple's municipal labor movement has challenged Simon. Obviously the union chiefs don't intend to cut bait. They'll fish.

It's a national drama. The other day Simon received a letter from 52 Congressmen demanding he cut the federal loans to New York. A congressional committee staff is preparing to investigate Babylon. The labor chiefs have threatened a general strike here as in 1968 in support of a garbage workers stoppage. The then governor Nelson Rockefeller rushed to the support of the sanitation men. Again there's talk of a citywide walkout. If New York is paralyzed for any length of time, the whole nation will limp. We'll soon see. It will be a warm Fourth with lots of fireworks.

Female captain flying high

DENVER (AP) — When Emily Howell was young she wanted to be a stewardess. It turned out she was an inch too tall.

Now, while others are serving coffee, she's at the controls of an airliner — the first woman to hold the rank of captain with a commercial airline in the United States.

The 36-year-old Denver native flies for Frontier Airlines. She was elevated from first officer to captain June 1, but the road to the top wasn't an easy one — it took 15 years.

Mrs. Howell, a divorcee with a 12-year-old son, isn't the only captain in the family. Her twin sister is Capt. Eileen Hanrahan, an Air Force nurse.

After her first commercial flight 17 years ago, Mrs. Howell said she "fell in love with flying" and immediately signed up for lessons.

From there she worked to get her flight instructor rating in 1961. She worked her way up to become manager of a flight school here until 1973, chalking up 7,000 hous in the air.

Then Frontier became the first domestic airline to hire a woman to work in the cockpit.

She got a lot of publicity when she was hired, but she admits that while a job with an airline is glamorous, "it's a job."

For three years she learned the ropes at Frontier, flying as a first officer on Convair 580s and Boeing jets.

Now she has her own route. She enjoys it and probably will be on it for awhile. It's not glamorous — from Denver to Cheyenne, Wyo., back to Denver, then off to Nebraska with stops in Sidney, Scottsbluff, Alliance and Chadron. After an overnight in Chadron, she retraces the route in her deHavilland "Otter," a twin-eigine prop-jet that seats 19 passengers. There is no stewardess.

In her first flight as a captain, Mrs. Howell said she "a little nervous" and "felt sort of like I was soloing again for the first time."

Joy of Stitching

by ELSA WILLIAMS

SWEET DREAMS

Sooner or later every needle artist gets an irresistible urge to make "something special" for her home. Something she will enjoy for years to come and possibly something that will be handed down in her family for her grandchildren and theirs to treasure and admire.

What could be a more delightful choice than a headboard — something charming to look at last thing at night, and first thing in the morning.

I've embroidered headboards for both my East coast home in Massachusetts and my California home in Pebble beach. In the former, the headboard was worked in crewel; in the latter it is stitched on needlepoint canvas. The design of Jacobean flowers is multicolored against a soft blue background.

Though embroidering a headboard is not a small undertaking, it's well worth the time and effort. First consider carefully the kind of design you would find it pleasant to live with, then decide on the headboard shape that would be most compatible. Once you've decided, have a piece of plywood cut to size and shape.

Pad this with several layers of soft fabric until it develops a gently rounded contour. Then lay it flat on the floor and smooth your embroidery linen or canvas over it. Next trace the outline accurately. If you're using canvas, leave a generous margin all around the embroidery space because your stitches will tend to "take up" the canvas.

Jacobean designs, like that on my own headboard, are particularly lovely with traditional furniture. Realistic flowers in true-to-nature colors make it springtime in your bedroom all year round.

Crewel embroidery on linen takes less time than needlepoint and you may want to echo the graceful curves of stems, leaves and tendrils and the colors of the embroidered flowers in similarly padded valances to complete the room's decor.

For a headboard in a man's bedroom Bargello or abstract swirls of color might be a more suitable choice.

Elsa Williams will reply to readers' questions of general interest in her column but all questions will be answered personally. Write to Elsa Williams, Box 3788, Grand Central Station, New York 10017.

Installing a custom-made headboard is very easy. The panel is put against the wall and a mattress and box spring on a rolling frame is placed in front of it.

Dear Elsa,

I recently came across a charming book of Cross stitch patterns. Is it possible to use these for embroidery on canvas? Would I have to embroider Cross stitches on the canvas or could I use other stitches? And how can I get these borders to "turn" a corner?

T.H.J.

Dear T.H.J.,

You can use almost any charted design to embroider on canvas; certainly it sounds as though your Cross stitch pattern would be equally effective used this way. You can use any of the usual canvas stitches. . .Tent, Basketweave, Bargello, etc. To turn a corner, I suggest you chart a length of your border pattern and cut an equilateral, right-angle triangle out of it. If you close the gap by swinging the right hand piece over to join the left hand piece, you'll find you've created a right angle and can stitch away to make a picture frame.

Decorating Tips

NATURALLY

"Naturally" is both an old word and a new one—especially when it comes to decorating the home. Decorating naturally—using natural materials to create a pleasant home atmosphere—is part of today's nation-wide trend toward things au naturel, part of the "getting back to nature" or "getting back to basics" attitude that is sweeping the country. And if the marketplace is any indication, a trend toward the use of genuine hardwood in furniture is a sure sign of the times.

Genuine oak alone accounts for 22% of the new furniture collections showing up in stores right now. New styles in Country French and Country English are showing up in oak for both genuine country folk as well as city dwellers, reflecting today's trend toward more casual living everywhere. Casual family room furniture in oak is very popular too, because of oak's rustic, rugged appearance and performance.

Newly favored among homemakers is ash, another strong hardwood with bold grain markings. One manufacturer has used ash with a "driftwood finish," in a suite of furniture that has a "Spirit of '76" quality. Timed for the Bicentennial, it has a huge four-poster bed with an overhead tester, and a table that smacks of workbench styling.

Bicentennial influence is also calling for reproductions of 18th Century designs made today of the same hardwoods that were used in the originals. Walnut, cherry and mahogany were used in formal 18th Century furniture and are used again today in the reproductions of handsome highboys, graceful sideboards, and chairs in Queen Anne or Chippendale styling. In more casual Early American design, look for maple and oak for the authentic natural touch.

In Mediterranean styling, the trend toward more subtle lines has virtually eliminated the use of "oak-like" and "maple-like" plastic imitations. Where once this style was embellished with plastic curlicues, elaborate sunbursts and intricate pseudo carvings of all description, today's Mediterranean styling sports rope turnings of genuine hardwood, real carvings of a lighter and cleaner character, and an allover uncluttered look.

To have a really today home, eliminate the plasticized look that is so out of vogue, and look to the natural materials like genuine hardwood.

Husband has death wish

Dear Ann: Will you please do a great many wives of heart-attack victims a favor and find some answers for us?

My husband, Ted, and several of his friends were lucky enough to survive severe heart attacks. Ted and two of his pals are now off their diets and even worse, they've started to smoke again. The other wives are ignoring it, but I feel as if Ted had slapped me in the face.

Isn't he saying to me, "I don't give a damn what I do to you?" Could it be that he has a death wish? This man needs every ounce of oxygen he can get, and there he is wasting it on smoking. What should I do? Every time I see Ted smoke a cigaret something inside me dies. The love and respect I had for him for over 30 years is slipping away.

What can I do about it? -- Heartsick Wife

Dear Heartsick: Not a darn thing. So quit eating yourself up, or he'll bury YOU.

People who defy doctors' orders do indeed have a death wish. A person must want to live in order to give up smoking or drinking or eating things he shouldn't. To wives who are in your shoes, I say quit nagging You can't inject a person with the will to live if he doesn't have it. Just keep yourself in good shape and make sure his life insurance is paid up.

Dear Ann Landers: In a recent column you said you had never received a letter from a girl who was sorry she had saved herself for marriage. Well-- you're hearing from one now, although I'm no "girl." I'm 52 years old.

I "saved" myself for a young man who had many fine qualities, but he was a clod in bed -- practically raped me on our wedding night. I tried to explain tenderness and patience were essential to help a woman achieve satisfaction, but I could never get the idea across to him. He was interested only in himself.

After putting up with his animalistic behavior for four years, I found a letter he had written to a girl he was seeing on the side. He described me as "cold, unresponsive and a zero bed-partner." That was all I needed to call it quits.

A few years later I met the man I wanted to spend the rest of my life with. But first I welcomed an affair. We married shortly after and have had 18 wonderful years together. There's something to be said for trying on a pair of shoes before you make the final investment, Ann. -- A Case For The Other Side

Dear Case: People aren't shoes, although your first mate sounds like a bit of a heel.

I am less judgmental than I was 20 years ago about girls who don't make it to the marriage bed "intact." However I still say it's the best way to go. I also believe that had you tried it out before your first marriage, you'd have married the clod anyway, thoroughly convinced that love would conquer all. It happens all the time, dear.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 15-year-old girl who is worried about my best friend. She used to be just neat but lately she's been telling a lot of crazy lies. Like she says she gets phone calls from famous people. Yesterday she said the earrings she was wearing awere a gift from Richard Burton. What's with her anyway? -- E.L. In L.A.

Dear E.L.: Your friend needs to make up things to make her feel important. This is very sad. You can help by being kind and building her ego. This girl desperately needs emotional support.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines.

2 churches to host film

Pete, Marge and Ronnie Harper, played by Robert Sampson, Pippa Scott and Johnny Jensen, relax during a scene from the full-length motion picture, "For Pete's Sake!" produced in Eastmancolor on location in Denver and the Colorado Rockies by World Wide Pictures, the comedy-drama is scheduled to be shown at 6 p.m. Sunday in two area churches--First Church of the Nazarene, Highway 61 North, and the Gray Ridge General Baptist Church. Seen nationwide by over three million people in theater premieres, "For Pete's Sake!" is a family film in which families can see and feel through its story line ways to develop deeper understanding and build stronger ties.

News analysts mystified by Carter religious convictions

NEW YORK (AP) — A lot of news analysts "are mystified" by Jimmy Carter's religious convictions, he says. "I don't think they doubt my sincerity, but they just don't understand. I don't make a big issue out of it, but neither do I hesitate to say publicly that the most important thing in my life is Jesus Christ."

That outspoken candor about it, a characteristic of the evangelical element in American Christianity, has seemed odd to some more reserved church adherents as well as to secular commentators, but it strikes a familiar chord in broad reaches of U.S. religious life.

"There is a hidden religious power base in American culture which our secular biases prevent many of us from noticing," writes Roman Catholic philosopher Michael Novak of Bayville, N.Y. "Jimmy Carter has found it."

That extensive base is the doctrinally traditional, evangelical sector of the country's churches, and it's a big one, estimated at from 30 million to 40 million of the nation's 132 million church members, about half the 80 million Protestants, a major segment of all mainline denominations, and a dominant part of some of them.

Although the open religious style may seem strange to some Northeasterners, it's a common quality in the country's heartland churches, in the Far West, and particularly in the South, bastion of the nation's biggest Protestant body, the 12 million Southern Baptists, including Carter, who is regarded as the front-runner for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Jim Newton of Memphis, Tenn., editor of World Mission Journal, published by the Southern Baptist Brotherhood Commission, of which Carter is a trustee, recently did a taped interview on a campaign plane trip with him about his religious attitudes.

Asked how he handled questions about being a "born-again" Christian, he said, "It's very difficult for anyone who has not had that experience to understand.... Many of the newsmen who asked about this have never had this experience. Some of them are downright cynical about it. I think it worries some of them.

"I just explain my own spiritual experience openly and honestly. When I was first asked this question, I had to decide how I was going to respond with the same kind of openness and honesty to this question that I would to any question."

Consequently, he adds, he explains that although he had been a church member since childhood, about 10 years ago, in 1967, he sensed some void in his spiritual life, that he was "missing something important," and began praying about it, discussing it with others, including his sister, evangelist Ruth Carter Stapleton, on a long walk in the woods near his home.

"I had a personal spiritual experience that is difficult to explain to people who have never had such an experience," he went on. "I began to grow. I participated in several pioneer mission efforts (in areas where Southern Baptist work is relatively new) ... I became uniquely aware of the Holy Spirit as an integral part of my life. I learned that I cannot depend on myself for every need and to solve every problem ...

"I feel my limitations more intensely. I used to deny my limitations and conceal them. Now I am much easier in my relations with other people and with God." But he added that his frankness about his faith has puzzled some secular commentators. "Some have been quizzical, some doubtful, some defensive."

While other candidates, both in this campaign and in the past, have espoused religious faith, the difference often cited is that their expression of it usually is broadly amorphous, in contrast to Carter's "specificity" — a common trait of the evangelical wing of U.S. Christianity.

Give the world a little gift today. Blood.

First Methodist has staff change

The Rev. Ralph H. Dodson

The Rev. Ralph H. Dodson has resigned as associate pastor of First United Methodist Church, Highway 61 North, and the Rev. Brent Mustoe of Edina, who will enter Asbury Theological Seminary at Wilmore, Ky., this fall, has been named assistant minister for the summer months.

In announcing his resignation as associate pastor--a position he had held since Jan. 1--the Rev. Mr. Dodson made no statement as to his reason for resigning.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Dodson will continue to live at 404 Virginia St. Although he will not be involved in a full-time position, the Rev. Mr. Dodson will supply the pulpit in area churches without a pastor or when the pastor is ill or on vacation. He will also be available for evangelistic crusades, a work to which he gave full time for several years, traveling into nearly half the states and five foreign countries.

This Sunday at 9 a.m., he will supply the pulpit at the Marston United Methodist Church.

A May 31 graduate of Asbury College in Wilmore, the Rev. Mr. Mustoe will assist the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Arthur C. Fulbright, and work with the youth program under the direction of the educational assistant, Carolyn Walker, during the summer months.

Other duties he will assume at First Methodist include: delivering Sunday evening sermons, directing rest home services and assisting the pastor in all of his duties.

Before feeling a call to enter the ministry in November 1973, he had entered Northeast Missouri State University as an accounting major in the fall of 1972. He transferred to Asbury College in the fall of 1974 to study for the ministry, and received a bachelor of arts degree last month.

The Rev. Mr. Mustoe has previously served as assistant pastor of Faith United Methodist Church at Kirksville (April-August 1974) and pastored three small churches last summer in northeast Missouri, the area of the state in which he grew up. He also has led singing in several churches and was a member of the Men's Glee Club at Asbury College.

Murray Lane to host 2-week VBS

Vacation Bible School and Teen College programs will begin Monday and continue through July 2 at Murray Lane Baptist Church, 807 W. Murray Lane.

Bible school classes for preschool through sixth grade children will be conducted daily from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. The Teen College event for seventh grade and above youths will meet each evening at 6:30.

A Parents' Night program is planned July 1.

If bus transportation is needed, contact the church office at telephone number 471-0034.

New Madrid church to honor founders

NEW MADRID — Beebe Memorial Christian Methodist Episcopal Church, 205 Riley St., will sponsor a Bicentennial program on June 26 and 27 as a tribute to the founding fathers of Beebe Memorial CME Church and the old O'Bannon School.

The program will get under way with a parade Saturday at 9 a.m. featuring floats, decorated cars, an area band and other participants. The parade will assemble on the county courthouse parking lot and procede down Main Street to the O'Bannon park, where an old-fashioned picnic is scheduled at noon.

To highlight the afternoon activities, J.B. "Jet" Banks, state representative from the 80th District, will be the guest speaker for 2 p.m. program which will also include several mayors of the area and other dignitaries in the community. At 4 p.m., a local band will close the afternoon program.

On Sunday, the activities will move to the Beebe Memorial Church ground where an old-fashioned Sunday School fellowship will take place at 9:30 a.m. Another special program will take place at 1:30 p.m., with local choirs singing old-fashioned spirituals and the Rev. Newton Williams, chaplain of Rust College at Holly Springs, Miss., will deliver the sermon, also on the church grounds.

Refreshments will be served afterward in the O'Bannon School cafeteria to close the weekend activities.

The theme for the celebration is "A Tribute to our Heritage during our Bicentennial Year," with the purpose being to enlighten local people of the religious and educational contributions performed by the founding fathers in the development of churches, schools and community.

Chiropractor to be guest speaker at Charleston

CHARLESTON — Dr. Larry Webster, a Malden chiropractor, will be the guest speaker at a 7:30 p.m. service Tuesday in the United Pentecostal Church, 307 E. Helena St.

Dr. Webster will speak on the topic, "Spiritual Healing--Miracle or Myth?, in which he will discuss areas of faith, how to get faith, the power of laying on of hands and how to achieve a point of contact with God.

A practicing chiropractor for 14 years, he is president of the Southeast Missouri Chiropractic Association and a member of International Chiropractic Association.

Dr. Webster is a brother-in-law of the Rev. Gaylon Butler, the church pastor.

Big Ridge homecoming

MATTHEWS — Big Ridge General Baptist Church, located southwest of town, will host an all day homecoming service beginning at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, according to the Rev. Lorn Ogelvie of Bernie, pastor.

The Franklin Brothers, a singing group from Kentucky, will sing.

Bicentennial gospel singing event slated

BERTRAND — A Bicentennial gospel singing program, hosted by the young adult class, will be presented at 7:30 p.m. June 25 at the Bertrand Church of God of Prophecy, the Rev. Jim Eskew, pastor, has announced.

In keeping with the Bicentennial, the theme will be "In God We Trust".

Singers will include the Tolbert Sisters of Sikeston, the Clark Singers from Pittsburg, Ill., and the Dwight Richardson Trio of Bertrand, plus others.

Each group will sing one patriotic song to commemorate the Bicentennial theme.

Twin City group to sing Sunday

PORTAGEVILLE — The Twin City Gospel Singers from Festus will be featured in a singing program from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday at First General Baptist Church.

BEDFORD, England (AP) — After he rejected a magistrate's order that a 168-pound Great Dane be destroyed because it was dangerous, Judge Robert Lymbery gave the dog a friendly pat.

The dog bit the judge's hand twice.

Couple attends seminar

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Howard, 704 Aspen Trace, recently attended a laymen's seminar on the campus of Oral Roberts University in Tulsa, Okla. Nearly 2,000 persons from across the United States and Canada were guests of the university for the four-day event.

Featured speaker for the seminar was ORU founder and president, Oral Roberts. Richard and Patti Roberts, the World Action Singers and Reflection, regulars on the Oral Roberts half-hour weekly programs and one-hour prime-time quarterly television specials, performed for seminar guests.

The seminar was one of several held on the campus this year. In addition to seminar guests, some 175,000 persons tour the ORU campus each year. ORU is Oklahoma's No. 1 tourist attraction, according to the Tulsa Chamber of Commerce.

In addition to the 19 major campus buildings, the guests had an opportunity to visit University Village, a complete retirement center for 400 residents, established by the Oral Roberts Association and located adjacent to the campus.

Oral Roberts University, in its 11th year of operation, has an enrollment of some 3,500 students. ORU is well-known for its innovations in electronic teaching methods. It was the first institution of higher learning to install a complete audiovisual information-retrieval system.

Weekend services set

MOREHOUSE — The Rev. Bill Reese of Puxico will conduct services Saturday night and Sunday morning and evening at the Morehouse Assembly of God Church.

The Redemptionaires, also of Puxico, will sing during each service, according to the Rev. R.A. McAnulty, pastor, who said the evening services will begin at 7:30.

Trinity Chapel to hose singing

A gospel singing program will be presented at 7:30 tonight in Trinity Chapel Church, 107 N. Sixth St., the Rev. Jean Tolbert, pastor, has announced.

The program will feature the Harmony Singers of Paducah, Ky., and local singers.

Sanctuary to be built

Pastor Raymond Myrick, left, and contractor Eldon Ziegenhorn manned the shovels Tuesday as ground was broken for a new sanctuary at Temple of Faith General Baptist Church, 309 Smith St. Also on hand for the groundbreaking are Bob Lane, second from left, a deacon, and Calvin Stovall, a trustee in the church. The new structure will be a 30 by 60-foot concrete block building adjoining the old building, which will be used as an educational building. Work at the construction site started Monday and is expected to be completed about Oct. 1.

"Let all your anxieties fall upon him, for his great interest is in you." (I Peter 5:7, MOFFATT)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, we thank Thee that Thou has accepted us into the heavenly fold through Jesus Christ our Savior. His interest in us led Him to suffer on Calvary, and we thank Thee for His abiding love and Care. In His blessed name, we pray. Amen.

The Colonial Times

Colonial Travel

Southerners would often stop at the homes of perfect strangers for overnight stays. Often the visits lasted for days. Servants sometimes stood by the road to invite the travelers in, since plantation owners were anxious to have news of other places.

In the northern colonies, there were many inns where guests could stay for a reasonable price. When the inns were crowded, guests often shared a room and even a bed.

Many people who could not afford horses walked for many miles.

The rivers were the highways of colonial times. Travel by boat was the quickest and most convenient way. Dugout canoes were used by Indians and colonists.

For Parents 'n Teachers

This section of The Mini Page is especially designed for parents and teachers to use with this week's Mini Page.

Page One: Go over the rules of the road. Save this issue to take along on your next trip. You can make a game with the numbers in the license plates, such as adding up each license total and seeing which is the highest. Using this sheet as a reference, you can also have each player name as many states as he can.

A well-planned trip is the key to a child's behavior. Hotel and motel reservations will be necessary for all big cities this summer. In some cases, it is suggested that visitors stay on the edge of a big city, rather than in town.

A very good source for information on Bicentennial information is the Bicentennial Times, published each month by ARBA. You can get on the mailing list by writing The American Revolution Bicentennial Administration, Box 1976, Washington, D.C., 20276. This is free.

The National Park Service Guide to Historic Places of the American Revolution is a paperback booklet that might be useful. The price is $3.15 per copy and the stock number is 2405-00517. It can be ordered from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C., 20402.

Games to Play Along the Way

ALPHABET FUN

To George Washington's House

"I am going to George Washington's house and I am taking an apple." The next player has to remember "apple" and add a word that begins with the letter B and so on through the alphabet.

This is a new version of an old game. Players must try to make their items something that could have been in use in colonial times. For a change, you can try starting at the end of the alphabet!

Alphabet Tales

Each player gives his name, what he loves, what he does and where he lives. "My name is Alice, I love alligators, I am an aviator and I live in Arkansas."

Sign On

"I see the letter A in the sign 'Raleigh'." The next player has to find the letter B in another sign.

I Spy

"I spy an object beginning with the letter A." Players have to guess what it is. The next person says,"I spy an object beginning with the letter B."

NUMBER FUN

Try to find numbers starting with the number 1 and going as high as you can. For numbers over 10, you will have to find the 1 on one sign and the other numbers on other signs.

FINISH THE STORY

One player starts telling a story. He stops just as the story gets interesting. The next player continues the story until all players have a chance. Stories about the Bicentennial would be fun.

COW POKER

Divide the players into two teams. Each team picks the side of the road nearest them and counts the number of cows. You can make up your own rules. For example, if you pass a graveyard, then you cancel all your cows and have to start again. If you pass a white horse, you get two extra points.

ATLAS FUN

Carry along an atlas. (An atlas is a book that contains a collection of maps.) Name the states where these cities are.

1. Boston	4. Seattle	7. Denver
2. Houston	5. Little Rock	8. Indianapolis
3. Cleveland	6. Dover	9. Providence

Answer block:
1. Mass., 2. Texas, 3. Ohio, 4. Wash., 5. Ark., 6. Del., 7. Col., 8. Ind., 9. R.I.

Is Discovering America Fun With You Along?

A Kids' Code of the Road

Tourists' tip — At Rapid City, South Dakota's Dinosaur Park, visitors can see huge statues of prehistoric beasts. In this park, but not pictured, is the largest copy of a prehistoric animal ever created by man. This is the Brontosaurus, which means "Thunder Lizzard." Mount Rushmore National Memorial with giant sculptures of four presidents is nearby.

Thousands of families will be exploring the country this Bicentennial year.

Are you a good tourist? Do you make getting there fun?

Check the things you do:

☐ Take along something to do or read and a pillow for a nap.

☐ Take turns at the window.

☐ Never bother the driver or fight with your brothers and sisters.

Here's a traveling game to play. Write down the license number of the first car you see from each state. Try to see how many cars from different states you can spot on your trip. If you are going on short trips keep this in the glove compartment and take it out when you are on the road.

☐ Use the bathroom when the whole family is taking a rest stop, so they won't have to make a special stop for you later.

☐ Try not to litter the car or the outside.

☐ Try not to take up more than your share of the space.

☐ Keep in mind the family budget and never beg for souvenirs or expensive meals.

☐ Study up on what you are going to see and take an interest in the sites.

☐ Have respect for historic sites. (No tag around Lincoln's statue, please.) Keep your hands off valuable items.

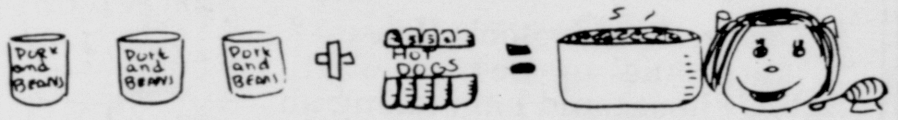

☐ Help carry the bags when you arrive at the motel.

☐ Try to be pleasant, remembering that this is everybody else's vacation, too.

Camping Recipes

Baked Beans and Franks

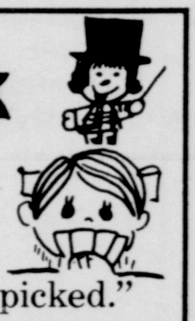

1. Take several small cans of baked beans.
2. Cut into pieces as many hot dogs as your family will eat.
3. Mix beans and hot dogs in a pot and heat.
4. Add a little chili powder, if you like.

Biscuit Treat

1. Take a can of refrigerated biscuits. Do not separate them.
2. Take a long stick and push it through the center.
3. Bake over a fire.
4. Remove the stick and fill the hollow with butter or honey or what you like.

Magic Trick

Carry along a deck of cards to play with on your trips. Here's a fun trick you can pull on your family.

What to say: "I can tell you what card you picked."

What to do: Arrange the cards in two stacks. Put all the red cards in one stack. Put the black cards in another stack. Don't let your family know that you have separated them. They are to think that you have just divided a mixed deck.

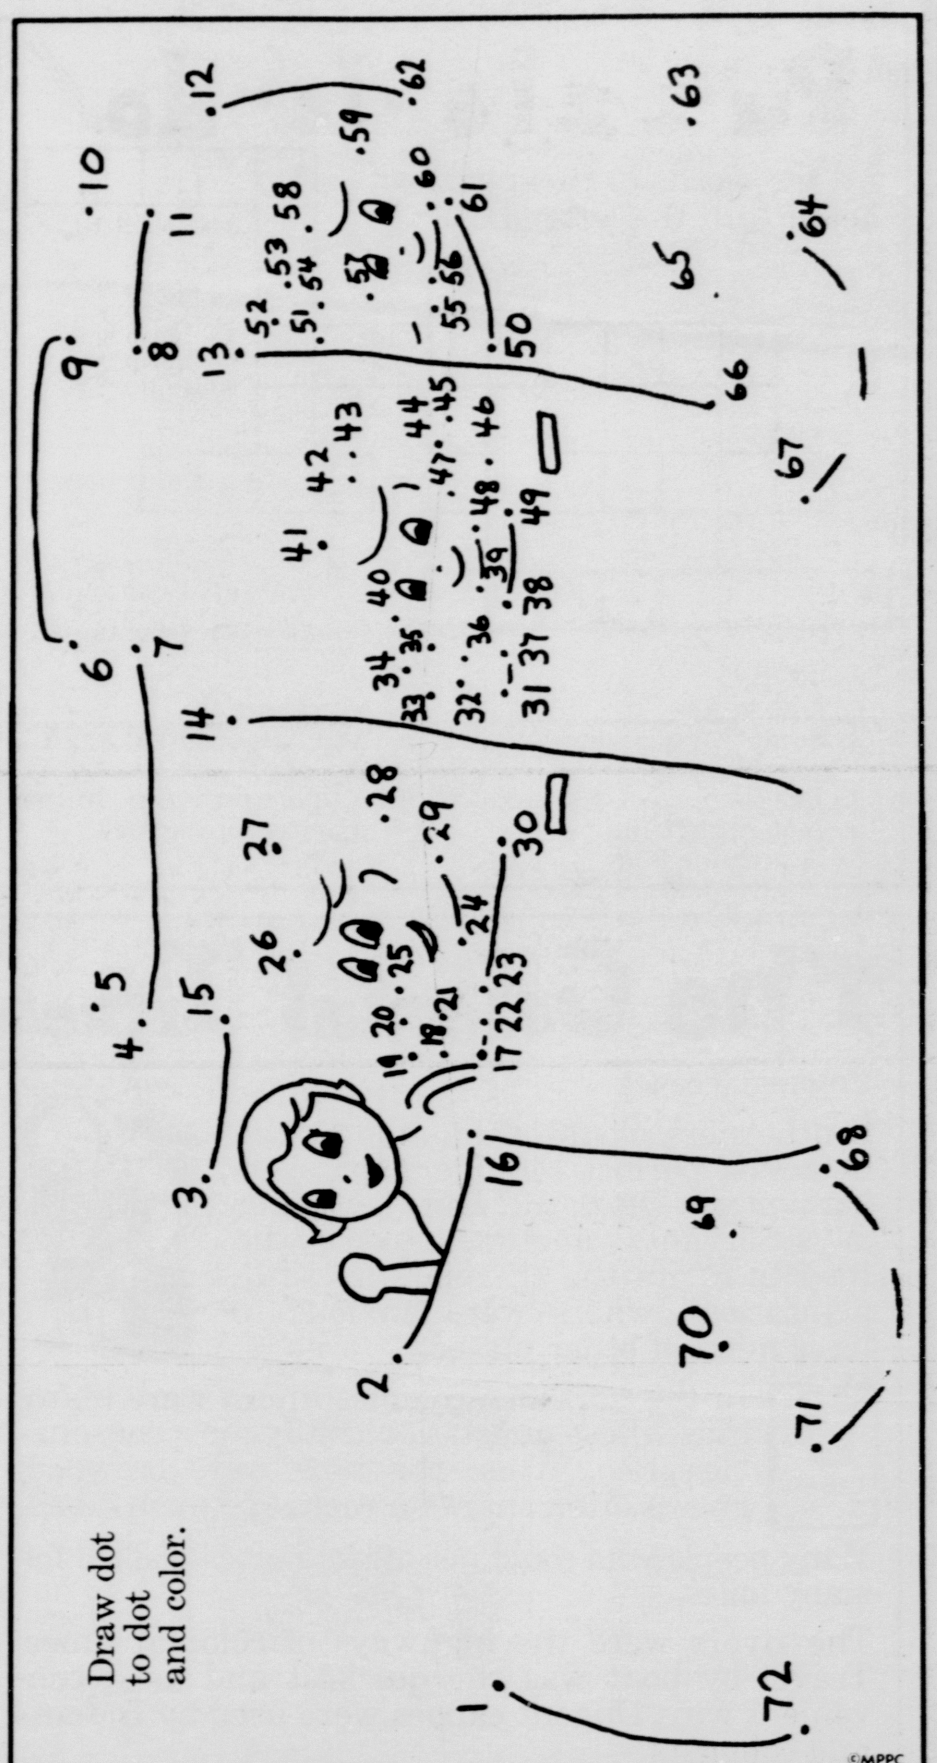

Have someone pick a card from the black pile. Keep the cards face down. Don't let them look through the pile. Let them pick a card, look at it and give it to you. Take it but don't look at it.

Then mix the card with the red pile. When you look through the pile, you can easily spot it because it will be the only black one.

Super Sport: Gaylord Perry

The Texas Rangers' right-hander, Gaylord Perry, is one of big league baseball's most outstanding pitchers.

He has been playing big league ball for 13 seasons. He has won 20 games or more four times. (It is very good for a pitcher to win 20 games a season.)

He won a Cy Young award as the most valuable pitcher in his league in 1972 when he had a 24-game win record with the Cleveland Indians.

His brother, Jim, also played in the big leagues.

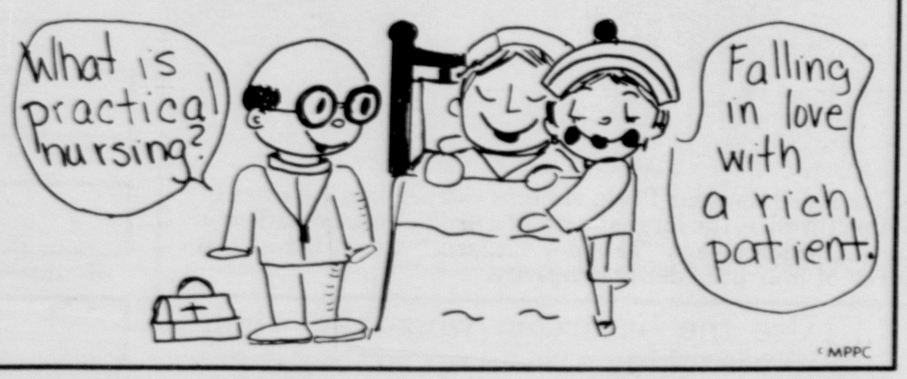

The Perry brothers grew up in Williamston, N.C. They were good high school athletes. Gaylord lives there in the off-season. He likes to farm, play golf, go hunting and fishing.

But mostly, Gaylord likes to pitch.

Are You Ready, Washington?

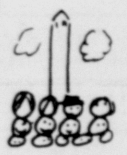

This spring Washington, D.C., opened five miles of a brand-new subway system. One of the stops will be the National Visitor Center, which is scheduled to open on July 4. The Center will be near the Capitol.

Washington is getting ready for thousands of visitors. Just like other cities around the country, our nation's Capital has done a lot to prepare for guests.

Tour reservation systems: To avoid long lines at the White House and the Washington monument, tourists will be able to make reservations. They will sit in grandstands and watch entertainment while they wait their turn.

Eagle Scouts as guides: Eagle Scouts will come to the city to help at visitor centers.

Aid to the Handicapped: Curb ramps have been added to many street curbs to help the handicapped in wheel chairs.

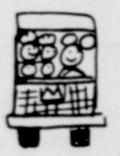

Comfort Stations: New comfort stations have been built.

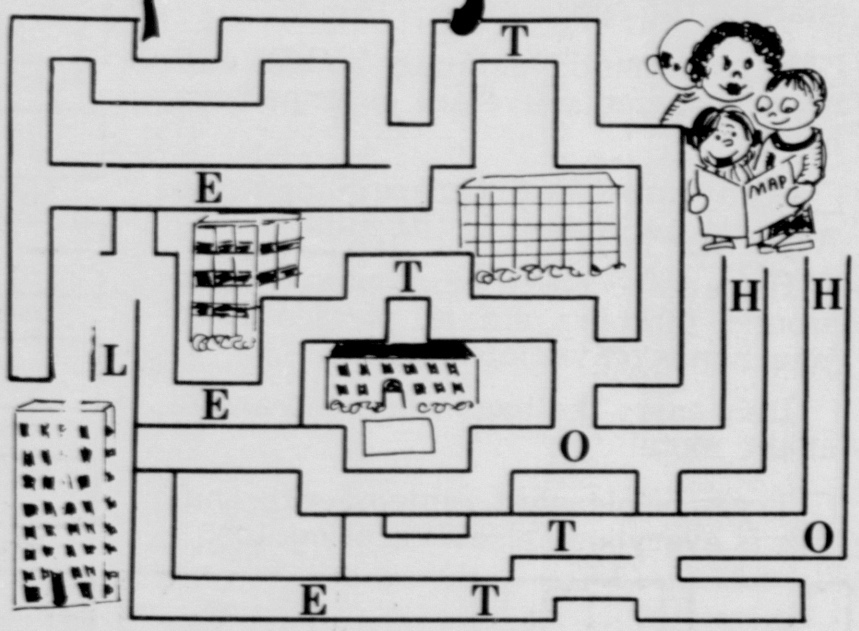

More police: To handle the crowds, more policemen will be added to the force.

Shuttle bus service: So tourists won't have to worry about parking, shuttle bus service from nearby areas have been set up. For a fee, tourists can park their cars and ride buses to the attractions.

Festival of American Folk Life

Children watch as a man shears a sheep.

Like many other cities, Washington is planning special Bicentennial activities and exhibits.

The summer-long Festival of American Folk Life is a big, outdoor kind of fair held on the Mall, a park between the Lincoln Memorial and the Washington monument. Music, dance, food, craft exhibits and a special children's area are part of the fun. It will run through September 6, Wednesdays through Sundays. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

If your family is planning a visit to Washington, they can write the D.C. Office of Bicentennial Programs, Communications and Public Relations, Suite 200, 777 14th St., N.W., Washington, D.C., 20005 for information.

Today in U.S. history

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, June 18th, the 170th day of 1976. There are 196 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1815, the British defeated Napoleon in the Battle of Waterloo in Belgium, ending the Napoleonic attempt to dominate Europe.

On this date:

In 1778, in the Revolutionary War, colonial forces entered Philadelphia as the British withdrew.

In 1812, the United States declared war against Britain.

In 1896, a Republican National Convention in St. Louis nominated William McKinley for President.

In 1940, in World War II, the Nazis captured the French port of Cherbourg.

In 1953, Egypt was proclaimed a Republic and Premier Mohammed Naguib became the first president.

In 1958, there was a controversy in Washington abut gifts received by President Dwight Eisenhower's executive assistant, Sherman Adams.

Ten years ago: South Vietnam maintained that the remnants of Buddhist opposition to the government were no longer a problem.

Five years ago: A federal sky marshal, disguised as a pilot, subdued a would-be hijacker aboard a Piedmont airlines jet at the Winston-Salem, North Carolina airport.

One year ago: The slayer of King Faisal of Saudi Arabia was publicly beheaded in front of the government palace in Riyadh.

Today's birthdays: Rock usician Paul McCartney is 34 years old. Actor Richard Boone is 59.

Thought for today: Some of the best boy scouts are girls — Groucho Marx.

Reagan holds on in Missouri despite the reducing number

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A delegate previously counted in Ronald Reagan's corner for the Republican National convention says she's uncommitted, reducing to 29 the number of Missouri delegates supporting the former California governor.

When Mrs. Marlene Zinzel of St. Louis County was chosen as an at-large national delegate at the Missouri state GOP convention Saturday in Springfield, she was listed on a slate backing Reagan. But when surveyed this week by The Associated Press, Mrs. Zinzel said she's uncommitted.

"They knew that when they put me on," Mrs. Zinzel said Thursday in a telephone interview. "They knew this—that I was uncommitted and that I have not completely made up my mind."

All but one of those on the Reagan slate were chosen as at-large delegates, with Gov. Christopher S. Bond the only one chosen supporting President Ford. The removal of Mrs. Zinzel from Reagan's column makes Missouri's delegation stack up this way: 29 for Reagan, 16 for Ford and four uncommitted.

Mrs. Zinzel is from the 3rd Congressional District of south St. Louis city and county, where the other three uncommitteds were chosen during district conventions in May.

Two of those uncommitteds, William Olyenick and William Skaggs, both of St. Louis, said Thursday that they were not being pressured to commit themselves to either of the two GOP candidates seeking the party's presidential nomination.

The other, Fred Whaley, could not be reached.

"I haven't been home too much, if they've been trying to reach me," Mrs. Zinzel said. "I have not completely made up my mind. I feel it's a little too soon to completely commit. I have my leanings, but I'd just as soon not disclose them."

Car hit by train, no one is injured

DEXTER— A car received extensive damage when struck by a train Thursday night, but no one was injured, police said today.

The accident occurred at 11:20 p.m. when a car owned by Tootsie Randolph of Doniphan, driven by Leonard R. Jackson of Rochelle, Ill., stalled on the tracks of a railroad crossing on Locust Street.

An attempt to push the car off the tracks was being made when the train was spotted and the occupants of the car vacated the vehicle.

The Missouri Pacific train carried the car 271 feet down the tracks.

collision on Highway 60, two miles west of Morehouse.

The accident occurred when Alvin Leon Robinson, 33, of Sikeston, driver of an eastbound pickup truck went to sleep, crossed the center line and struck a westbound tractor truck driven by Harry Francis Tucker, 61, of Marble Hill, and then struck another westbound tractor-trailer driven by Carl Edward Lacroix, 53, of Advance.

Robinson was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

A two-truck accident at 7:20 a.m. Wednesday on Highway 60, three miles east of Poplar Bluff caused minor injuries to a Benton, Ark. man.

According to the patrol the accident occurred when a westbound tractor truck driven by Richard Connell, 38, of Benton, Ark. attempted to pass a westbound tractor truck driven by Donald Vorhies, 30, of Lockridge, Iowa, that was slowing and making a left turn. Connell's truck went into a ditch and overturned. He was taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Danforth proposes limiting terms served in congress

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — "If there is anything in the United States that cries out for reform it's the Congress of the United States."

And to that end Republican senatorial candidate John C. Danforth proposed on Thursday a constitutional limitation of 12 years for members of Congress, claiming lifetime legislators "grow apart from those back home."

"I am concerned that the notion that government is of the people has been lost in recent years," said Danforth, who is giving up his post as attorney general after eight years to make a second bid for the U.S. Senate.

"Professional legislators have become a special class of people isolated in Washington from the constituencies they serve," he told newsmen.

Danforth, who said he would serve no longer than 12 years or two terms if elected this fall, admitted that it would be difficult if not impossible to get a constitutional amendment limiting terms through Congress. He said the pressure for such a change will have to come from the public.

"The people will have to demand it," Danforth said. "They will have to say, 'We don't want this group of people that has become isolated.'"

Danforth claimed that a limit on terms would result in generating new ideas for government, restraining accumulation of power by lawmakers over long tenures, halting development of special friendships or enmities that shadow decisions, reducing the damage inept or corrupt politicans can do and insuring that incumbents do not enjoy the advantages of office forever.

Claiming reform of Congress is of paramount importance, Danforth said his proposal is not merely prompted by Washington sex scandal disclosures of the past few weeks, "Although those are not harmless peccadilloes."

GREENSBORO, N.C. — David Thompson scored 23 points as the Denver Nuggets, now of the National Basketball Association, defeated the U.S. Olympic team 108-100 in an exhibition basketball game.

Hitters dominate Little League

Hitters took over the spotlight in the Sikeston Little League Thursday night at the complex. The biggest run output came in the American League, where 42 runs were scored in two games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Legion and Pizza Inn recorded victories in National League play.

Legion rallied for five runs in the bottom of the fifth to down Security National Bank 16-14. Lee Dockins rapped his fourth extra- basehit of the game, a double to drive in a pair of tallies, then scored later in the inning. Dockins also had three triples to his credit to lead a 17-hit attack for Legion. Bert Perry banged out three hits for Security National. Shane Deal was the winning pitcher, while Dennis Sanders got the loss.

Tim Lambert threw a one-hitter against A & B Leasing as Pizza Inn won 8-3 in the nightcap. Jeff Brashear was the only hitter to solve Lambert for a basehit. Mark Moore had a pair of hits to pace Pizza Inn's assault. Larry Childers was the losing pitcher.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Bridger and First National rolled to lopsided victories in a wild evening of American League action.

Bridger scored eleven runs in the first three innings as they downed Fabick 15-5. Fabick pounded out 19 hits, but could put them together for only five runs as winning pitcher Rickey Flippo struggled but held the Fabick team in check. Henderson blasted four doubles to pace Bridger's 20-hit barrage. Stinnett was the losing pitcher for Fabick.

First National Bank scored an unbelievable 20 runs in the second inning after tallying twelve times in the first as they clobbered Moore's Firestone 32-0 in a three- inning game. First National pounded out 23 hits in the game and was led by Lloyd Brewer, who socked three triples. Brewer was also the winning pitcher, blanking the losers on only three hits. Davis was the losing hurler.

MUSIAL LEAGUE

Bank of Sikeston downed Kingsway Plaza 14-5 and Collins Construction beat Harts Bread 18-2 in Musial League play.

A seven- run second inning by Bank of Sikeston highlighted their victory in the first game. Bank of Sikeston scored their 14 runs on only four hits, two of them by Allen Morris. Michael Price had a pair of hits for Kingsway. Barry Alberson was the winning hurler, while Jim Perkins was the loser.

Shawn Williams and Henry Echols had three hits apiece as Collins rolled over Harts in the second game. Collins struck for five runs in the third and seven more in the fifth to put the game away. Scott Carmody had two of Harts' three hits. Lanny Little got credit for the victory, while Jim Cowell was the loser.

Pitching rules Senior Babe Ruth

Good pitching performances by Craig Pools' Tim Lawrence and Security National's Roger Cloud helped the two teams to Senior Babe Ruth League wins at V.F.W. Stadium Thursday night.

In the opener Cloud was touched for six runs and five hits in the first two innings, as Security Bank and Trust hurler Mike McElmurry was staked to an early 6-0 lead. A two-run double by Mike Riley and two singles by Art Romanowski were keys to the run-scoring.

But, form that point on, Cloud went to work. Over the last five innings the lanky righthander didn't allow a run or a hit, with only one walk and six strikeouts.

Meanwhile, Security National reached McElmurry for three runs in the third. Then, the winners put their first seven batters on base in the sixth. Four crossed the plate and Cloud protected his one-run margin.

The loser McElmurry allowed seven hits and faned nine, walking just one. Larry Jackson contributed a double during the sixth inning rally.

Another righthander, Tim Lawrence, pitched a strong four-hitter in the nightcap to give Craig Pools the 7-2 win. Lawrence walked only one while beating Jim Moore's Don Francis, who suffered from wildness.

Craig Pools capitalized on four walks to score five runs in the fourth and assure the win. Mike Boardman ripped a double for the winners.

Francis was relieved by Johnny Greer, who allowed one hit in two innings of work.

Kuhn may stop Finley's Oakland clearance sale

NEW YORK (AP) — Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley, lashing out at a baseball system that has "no stability and no permanence," said he had no alternative but to sell three of his star ballplayers because he couldn't make a trade for them.

Finley appeared with representatives of the New York Yankees, Boston Red Sox and player union head Marvin Miller at a hearing with Commissioner Bowie Kuhn Thursday, and said the current system of player-management behavior is "wrecking the sport."

In a matter of hours Tuesday, Finley sold Joe Rudi and Rollie Fingers to the Boston Red Sox for $1 million each, then sent left-hander Vida Blue to the Yankees for $1.5 million after signing the pitcher to a three-year contract. Kuhn, prohibiting the purchased players from reporting to their new clubs, had ordered the hearing because of questions that arose in his mind over Finley's clearance sale.

"The issue is whether the assignment of the three contracts is appropriate or not under the circumstances. That's the issue I have to wrestle with," said Kuhn. "I have to consider these transactions in the best interest of baseball. I have the inherent power to do what I feel is in the best interest of baseball."

His decision regarding Finley's action was expected some time today.

The maverick A's owner had the explanation of his moves well prepared. "Clubs don't want unsigned ballplayers," he said after Thursday's hearing, referring to the fact that the three athletes sold were among seven Oakland players who had not signed contracts for the current season. "I wouldn't want one either. It was only the Red Sox and Yankees who said, 'We'll take these ballplayers, even if they're unsigned.'

"I didn't want to sell them. We had made every effort for two months to make trades — to no avail," said Finley, dressed in a grey plaid suit with a yellow golf shirt and matching hat.

"We were trying to make trades, but when we got to within six hours of the (trading) deadline, we had no alternative" but to sell the athletes.

Kuhn apparently wanted to be made sure of that, and called the hearing. Though neither would comment on what had transpired in the 90-minute session, Finley explained, "He wanted to know the reasons I sold and they bought."

Finley made it clear he felt he was right in making the deals and that "I frankly think he (Kuhn) was satisfied with the information we presented him."

Strickland is still undefeated

SENIOR

Strickland Texaco scored in every inning enroute to a 28-14 runaway over First National in Senior Girls' Softball action at Farris Field.

Shortstop Edward had a perfect, 5-for-5 night for the winners. Another shortstop, Cowan, was 3-for-3 for First Nationa.

MINOR

A seventh- inning rally fell four runs short for Barkett's E-Z Mart as they fell, 15-11, to Marks Food Mart. Ann Campbell got credit for the win, holding Barkett's to just five hits.

Marks scored seven in the second inning and five more in the third, then held the lead.

In a low- scoring contest Bank of Sikeston held off Rotary 7-4. Missy Matthews picked up the pitching win, also pitching a five-hitter.

Arizona vs Arizona St.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Arizona and Arizona State will try again tonight to decide who plays Eastern Michigan for the title in the 30th College World Series.

Rain forced postponement Thursday night of the fifth-round matchup of the two Arizona schools. The winner of the intra-state battle will meet Eastern Michigan, 46-15, for the series crown Saturday night.

Arizona, 54-17, and top-rated Arizona State, 65-9, were first-round foes in the series with Arizona State rallying for a 7-6 victory in 10 innings. The Sun Devils have beaten Arizona in all seven meetings this year.

"Rain sure doesn't help us any," said Eastern Coach Ron Oestrike. "Our pitcher (Bob Welch) was rested anyway. It could help the Arizona-Arizona State survivors because it will give their pitcher that much more rest."

Eastern Michigan, which came to the series third-rated behind Arizona State and Arizona, received a bye into the finals by winning its first three series games.

Arizona is expected to pitch senior right-hander Steve Powers, 10-4, against Arizona State. Don Hanna, 15-0, including one series victory, will be Arizona State's pitcher.

The rainout was the first in the eight-team, double-elimination series that began June 11.

Foster to start for Saints

Saturday's game at Cairo, Illinois, which starts at 4 p.m., will be used to experiment, according to the Saints. Striving to improve the Sikeston pitching staff, several hurlers will be given work against the team from across the river.

Cairo played Sikeston once last year, beating them 13-11 at V.F.W. Stadium in August. It was one of only five defeats for the Saints team. This time around, the Saints already have five defeats, but, with improved pitching the future is expected to be much better.

Cairo isn't considered to be as strong as the Bi-State League teams Sikeston has played so far, but they are good competition. Probable starter for Sikeston will be Mike Foster, but he will hurl only three innings or so. Also expected to are Jeff Jackson and Les Schatzley.

The Saints lineup:
1ST Rick Eisenbach, 3B
2ND Mitch Walker CF
3RD John Leible, C
4TH Jim Saulter, 1B
5TH Kenny Urhahn, LF
6TH Bill Schatzley, SS
7TH Stan Hall, RF
8TH Jeff Jackson, DH
9TH Stan Sorrells, 2B

K.C. Royals play Cleveland Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians try to break the .500 jinx as they take on the Kansas City Royals here for a three-game series starting tonight.

"I don't know what it is, but we seem to lose our consistency once we get to .500," said Indians Manager Frank Robinson.

The Indians haven't been able to go past one game over .500 all season, but this may be their best try so far. The club has won six of its last seven games and 15 out of the last 24. It now stands at the break-even point.

But the Royals aren't likely to be doormat opponents either. The Royals lead the American League's west division with a record of 38-20, the second best in baseball.

Kansas City's collective batting average is a league-leading .293 compared with the Indians' .258. Two Royals sluggers, third baseman George Brett and outfielder Hal McRae, are among the league's top ten hitters.

The Royals' pitching also has been outstanding. Their collective earned run average is 3.17.

When the two clubs met nine weekends ago, Kansas City took two of the three games and they have been on a winning binge ever since.

"The Royals have been outstanding...they can beat you a lot of ways...they score an awful lot of runs," Robinson said. But he added that "good pitching will stop them and I'm hoping we can get some (good pitching) this weekend."

In tonight's game, Rick Waits (1-1) of the Indians will take the mound against Dennis Leonard (6-2).

No more ABA merger complete

HYANNIS, Mass. (AP) — The Chicago Bulls and the Atlanta Hawks, the National Basketball Association's worst teams last season, figured to reap the bigget benefits with the addition of four American Basketball Association clubs to the NBA for the 1976-77 campaign.

The Bulls and Hawks will have the Nos. 1 and 2 picks, respectively, in a special dispersement draft of players from the two ABA franchises — Kentucky and Utah — which were not added to the NBA Thursday, plus players remaining from the Virginia franchise which folded following the 1975-76 season.

Most likely the Bulls, who have been struggling for several years without a high-scoring center, will select 7-foot-2 Artis Gilmore, who led Kentucky to the ABA championship in 1975. The Hawks, also lacking a good big man, would then take 6-11 Moses Malone, who stepped right into the pros from Petersburg, Va., High School in 1974 and was an immediate sensation.

The order of selection was decided upon after the announcenent of the historic merger, which will result in the Denver Nuggets, Indiana Pacers, New York Nets and San Antonio Spurs becoming a part of the NBA next sesason, bringing the league's membership to 22.

The teams will select in the inverse order of their records for last season. Following Chicago and Atlanta will be Kansas City, Detroit, Portland, New York Knicks, New Orleans, Milwaukee, Indiana, Los Angeles, Houston, Phoenix, Seattle, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Washington, San Antonio, Cleveland, New York Nets, Boston, Denver and Golden State.

It will be another opportunity for the poorer to get rich, and the for the Bulls and Hawks it could not have come at a more opportune time. Chicago finished last season with a 24-58 record and Atlanta was 29-53.

The Bulls began rebuilding last week when they chose 6-7 forward Scott May of Indiana, the College Player of the Year, on the first round of the NBA draft.

The Hawks were extremely active on the trading market as the season ended, swinging two major deals. In one transaction they obtained center-forward Joe C. Meriweather and guard Gus Bailey from the Houston Rockets and in the other they acquired guard Ken Charles and forward Dick Gibbs from the Buffalo Braves for guard Tom Van Arsdale.

The date of the dispersal draft was not set but other players expected to be among the top picks are Marvin Barnes, Ron Boone, Maurice Lucas and Bird Averitt.

Perhaps the two biggest losers in the the agreement will be Los Angeles and New Orleams. Both had forfieted their first-round draft choices in 1977 in a recent supplemental draft of underclassmen who have signed by the the ABA this season but were not chosen by NBA clubs. In that draft, the Lakers took Mark Olberding, a strong rebounder who now will remain with San Antonio, and the Jazz chose the highly prized Malone.

That draft was voided by the agreement between the leagues.

SPORTS

HAZEL PARK, Mich. (AP) — Wayne Catalano, leading jockey at the Hazel Park race track, was suspended for five days Thursday for rough riding.

Catalano brought John Lighter home in front by 8½ lengths in the fifth race Tuesday but was disqualified for bumping on the first turn. The suspension followed. Catalano had won 104 races thus far this season at Hazel Park.

In another disciplinary action, stewards set down trainer Al Vizcaya for 30 days after finding an illegal substance in a saliva test on Ray Bauer, who won the sixth race June 10.

THE LUXURY OF ENOUGH ROOM

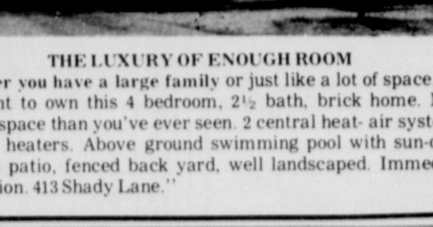

"Whether you have a large family or just like a lot of space, you will want to own this 4 bedroom, 2½ bath, brick home. More storage space than you've ever seen. 2 central heat- air systems, 2 water heaters. Above ground swimming pool with sun-deck. Covered patio, fenced back yard, well landscaped. Immediate Possession. 413 Shady Lane."

A DREAMER'S PARADISE

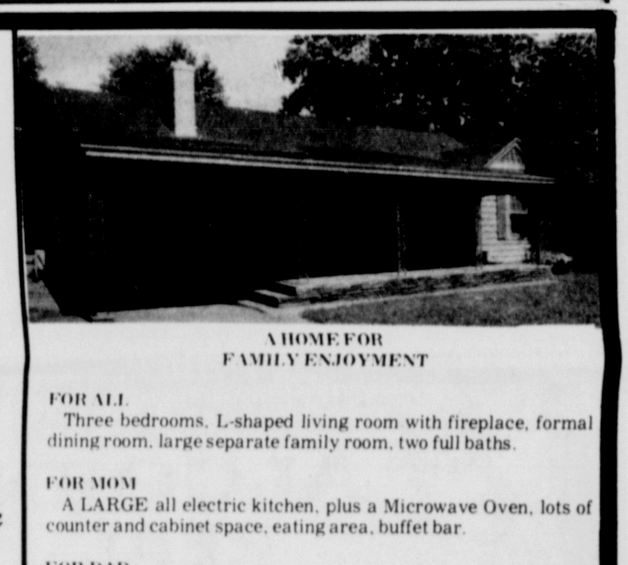

Here's a house that will make your dreams come true. It's a one level house with a full basement combined to allow you 4500 sq. ft. of dream space --- and all very tastefully decorated.
Upstairs your dream begins with a large formal living room, formal dining room, a well planned and completely built-in kitchen, a large functional laundry room with built-in cabinets, and a half bath, a cozy family room with a wood-burning fireplace and built-in bookshelves, a master bedroom suite with an adjoining full bath, two bedrooms and another full bath, Continue dreaming and descend the clouds to the completely finished basement; here you will find an enormous recreation-playroom with a built-in bar and gas fireplace, two paneled bedrooms and a full bath, and lots of storage. Gas heat, central air, fully carpeted, drapes. HOW ABOUT IT --- DOES IT SOUND LIKE A DREAM YOU'VE HAD? Location 120 Autumn Drive, Collins North Acres.

FROM THE DESK OF CHARLES M. MITCHELL:
Many owners, and even some Brokers, whose homes have languished on the market for several months are mistakenly blaming it on a temporary sales slump. Realistic pricing means specific data on comparable properties which have recently sold, those still on the market which will be competitive, and properties withdrawn after being rejected by the market at a too-high asking price.

Jazz Festival will salute Duke Ellington

NEW YORK (AP) — From a four-part salute to the late Duke Ellington to the electronic jazz of Billy Cobham and the George Duke Band, the Newport Jazz Festival will be a musicl mix of jazz sounds old and new.

The 10-day festival begins Friday, June 25, with Tony Bennett and Bill Evans, and closes July 5 with the swinging dance music of Cootie Williams, Eddie "Lockjaw" Davis, Zoot Sims and other jazz greats of that era at the Roseland Ballroom.

In between is a jazz "who's who," including musical tributes to the late saxophonists Julian "Cannonball" Adderley and John Coltrane. Last year pianist Thelonious Monk came out of retirement to play at the festival. This year, guitarist Tal Farlow has shed his retirement to perform.

"The Newport Jazz Festival has always presented a good cross-section of jazz," says festival producer George Wein. "This year we're trying to stock with as many pure jazz groups as possible. Last year we mixed in a few commercial groups, and the audience didn't like it."

Wein predicts the 1976 production will be one of the best years for the festival because of the diversity of the artists.

"We've found such a great spirit of cooperation with the musicians," he said. "They want to do something special this year."

For example, bass player Charlie Mingus, who has fallen in love with flamenco music, will perform with the Azucena y Edo Flamenco Dance Group. And a Radio City Music Hall concert salute to the Rev. John Gensel, pastor to the jazz community, will also honor Rahsaan Roland Kirk, who recently suffered a stroke but has been able to resume his career. A portion of the proceeds from the show will be donated to Kirk for his medical expenses.

Three events will be held outside New York City at Waterloo Village in Stanhope, N.J., a canal town of preserved 18th and 19th century structures.

The first program to be held there June 26 is a gospel picnic, featuring choirs and gospel performers from the New York-New Jersey area. That evening, the State of New Jersey will honor its native son, Count Basie. Basie and his orchestra will perform with Eubie Blake, the 93-year-old ragtime composer-pianist.

Later in the festival, Basie will give a free concert at the World Trade Center to celebrate the nation's bicentennial on July 4.

The last event at Waterloo Village is a "jazz picnic" on June 27. Earl "Fatha" Hines, Pee Wee Erwin and Teddy Wilson will perform.

What's the law?

The case of the costly punch

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

K.O. Jones signed a contract to fight a 10-rounder with Glass-Jaw Kelly. Under the terms of the contract, both boxers agreed to abide by the rules of the State Athletic Commission, which provided for no hitting below the belt.

And sure enough, during the second round of the bout, that's just what happened. K.O. unleashed his famous and fearsome haymaker which, unfortunately, landed south of Kelly's border. The result: Kelly was totally incapacitated, the fith was stopped--and so was payment of K.O.'s purse.

"By hitting Kelly below the belt," K.O. was told, "you breached the rules of the State Athletic Commission and, consequently, your contract. Therefore, you forfeited your purse."

"I'd have to be punch-drunk to buy that," was K.O.'s answer. "I didn't hit Kelly below the belt on purpose--I was aiming for his chin. Because the blow went a little off course--which is apt to happen in the heat of any fight--is no basis for holding up my money. Losing the fight was punishment enough. I want my money."

When it still wasn't forthcoming, K.O. Jones sued for it in court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you give K.O. Jones the decision and his purse?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that in order to collect under a contract, a sizable portion of the contract must be carried out. And, in this case, there was no substantial performance since, due to K.O.'s foul, the 10-round fight lasted only two rounds. What's more, concluded the judge, whether or not the foul was deliberate made no difference. It was an act which K.O. had contracted not to perform.
